LATEST Hitler to Accept Truce, Says Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—An authorized source said tonight that Adolf Hitler would accept an armistice if proposed by President Roosevelt with the view to a general European settlement.

JAPAN RECALLS BERLIN ENVOY

TOKIO (AP)—The Japanese government today recalled Major-General Hiroshi Oshima, ambassador to Germany and long an advocate of a military alliance among Japan, Germany and Italy.

No official reason was given,
but the recall has been considered inevitable since Japan's foreign policy underwent drastic change as a sequel to Germany's conclusion of a nonaggression pact with Soviet Russia.

No Extra War Pay For Civil Servants

A change in the provincial government's policy toward civil servants who enlist in the armed forces was announced by Premier Pattullo today.

Because of objections taken by the public, and policy adopted by other governments, he said the cabinet has decided not to make up the difference between civil service wages and army pay for enlisted men, as was announced originally.

The government will, however, preserve seniority rights for enlisted men and will maintain their superannuation payments, paying both the government's share and the man's contribution.

This policy will apply to future enlistments from the civil service, but the government will keep faith with those who enlisted under the old arrangement, he said.

For the matter of record, the Premier said, very few civil service enlistments are drawing the difference in pay. Most of those called up were officers in militia units and their army pay is either as great or greater than their former civil service pay.

Canada Removes Sugar Dump Duty

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. J. L.
Ilsley, Minister of National Revenue, today authorized the temporary removal of the dumping duty applicable to refined sugar imported into Canada.

The announcement said that "in view of the shortage of refined sugar in Canada, entries covering importations of refined sugar will be accepted until November 15, 1939, without the application of dumping duties."

'Witch' Pleads Guilty In Murder Ring

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs.
Providenza Miccichi, called the "witch" in Philadelphia's murder-for-insurance ring, halted her trial today by pleading guilty to indictments charging her with the poison murder of Mrs. Jennie Cassetti, 37-year-old mother of six children.

On trial since Tuesday, Mrs.
Miccichi was the fourth person to halt trial with a guilty plea. So far 12 persons have been convicted or pleaded guilty to murder. Twelve still are to go on trial for deaths charged to the mass murder ring, blamed by investigators for "50 to 100" killings.

New R.A.F. Casualties

LONDON (CP cable)—The Air Ministry tonight issued its fourth casualty list covering various dates. It included 3 killed in action, 2 wounded in action, 16 killed on active service, 19 missing, 7 who died as a result of wounds suffered on active service, and 1 previously reported missing who is now reported to have been killed in action.

Jail Death Accident

VANCOUVER (CP)—A coroner's jury last night decided that death of Victor Kessum Lahti, found strangled in his jail cell Monday, was accidental, with no blame attached to any other person.

Hitler Peace Proposals Studied Menace Must Go, Says Britain

Franco Reported

Ousting Germans

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Mail, Independent, reported today that General Francisco Franco had ordered a large-scale expulsion of Reich business representatives from Spain.

Two large German trusts active in buying and selling on the peninsula were dissolved, the newspaper said. In addition, all Germans occupying key positions in Spanish firms were ordered to leave the country.

Board to Buy Canadian Supplies For Great Britain

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's War
Supply Board has been made Canadian agent for the British government's purchasing mission, now here for the placing of munitions and war supply contracts, the Dominion Government announced today.

Under the authority of an order-in-council, the board will place orders in Canada for supplies required by the British ministries of supply and defence.

In making the announcement, the government stated the possibility of the War Supply Board acting as agent for the British government had been anticipated in setting the board up. The necessary authority had now been provided.

The request that the War Supply Board act as agent was made by the British purchasing mission in a letter to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The Prime Minister, according to the announcement, in his reply "assured the mission that both the Canadian government and the War Supply Board would put forth every effort to make the arrangement effective in carrying out the plans of the United Kingdom government for the provision of munitions and supplies from Canadian sources."

NAMED IN SEPTEMBER

Formation of the supply board was announced by the government on September 20, although the Prime Minister told Parliament a week earlier that such a board would be set up under the War Measures Act to handle all purchases of munitions and other war supplies.

Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, and Robert C. Vaughan, vice-president in charge of purchasing for the Canadian National Railways, were named chairman and vice-chairman of the board.
C. E. Gravel, Montreal, has since been added to the board. Two more members are likely to be appointed.

Sir James Rae is head of the British purchasing mission, which has made its headquarters in Ottawa.

Reich Fights On If Offer Rejected, Declares Hitler

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Associated Press Staff Writer
BERLIN—Adolf Hitler today proposed a European peace settlement "on a comprehensive basis," but added that if the Allies rejected his "outstretched hand," this "statement will have been my last."

"Then we shall fight," he went on, and pictured the new war as one sure to bring unprecedented horror to the world.

"May those peoples and their leaders who are of the same mind (as himself) now make their reply," he said in his hour and 20-minute speech to the Reichstag and the world.

"And let those who consider war to be the better solution reject my outstretched hand."

He challenged the Allies to "interpret these opinions of mine as cowardice if they like."
"I need not occupy myself with what they think; I make these statements simply because it goes without saying that I wish to spare my own people this suffering."

Collaborators said Hitler regarded his proposals as "formal," and that he would now wait for Britain and France to act on them.

The Fuehrer was time and again conciliatory in tone—specifically to both Britain and France.

The world's history, he said, showed that in war "there never have been two victors, but very often only losers."

"Neither force of arms nor lapse of time will conquer Germany," he declared. "It is infantile to hope for the disintegration of our people."

STILL EYES COLONIES

These were among the other most material phases of his speech:

1. A renunciation of further territorial claims, save for his old colonial demands.

2. A declaration that Germany and Soviet Russia together would "relieve one of the acutest danger spots of Europe" by working for a peace zone in eastern Europe.

3. Specific assurance to the world that he had no designs on Rumania, the Ukraine, the Urals or Denmark and an expression that in eastern Europe generally, and Scandinavia as well, his interests were wholly economic.

4. A declaration that one of Germany's tasks in dealing with fallen Poland was the establishment of a "new order of ethnographic conditions, that is to say resettlement of nationalities."

Saying that if the present war was allowed to go on the "vigor of every nation will be sapped on the battlefield," Hitler added it would be a "struggle in which "there are no longer any islands"
—an obvious reference to what he believes is Britain's vulnerability to air attack.

RUINS AND CEMETERIES

Such a war, carried to the end, he added, would leave a frontier of "ruins and endless graves" between Germany and France.

LONDON (CP)—The British government said tonight Adolf Hitler's peace proposals would be "subject to careful examination in consultation with the governments of the Dominions and the French republic."

END MENACE, FIRST

The statement added:

"But it is necessary to remember two things:

"1. No peace proposal is likely to be accepted which does not effectively free Europe from the menace of aggression.

"2. Something more than words would be required to establish confidence" in any peace proposals Germany might make.

VAGUE AND OBSCURE

The government statement, read by a foreign office spokesman, said that Hitler's proposals
"in their present form... are in many respects vague and obscure.
But it is noted that they contain no suggestion for reparations for the wrongs done by Germany to other peoples."

The statement said the speech was only available in the course of the afternoon and "it has not been possible to give more than preliminary examination" to it.

TWO PARTS TO SPEECH

The statement said, however, the speech was apparently divided into two parts. The first was mainly a survey of past events.
This, said the government,
"abounds in perversions of the truth which will be readily recognized by the people of this country and indeed of the whole world."

The second part, the statement added, "contains what Hitler described as a few proposals for peace."

The government asserted "the repeated suggestions that Great Britain was responsible for the war have no foundation in fact."
It said, on the contrary, "the efforts of His Majesty's government to preserve peace during the successive crises brought about by Germany are well known and recognized."

QUESTIONS

On the surface—the German proposals might look attractive.

mand to make on Britain or France, and thus there was no reason for carrying on the struggle.
"Why should this war in the west be fought?" he asked. "For the restoration of Poland? The Poland of the Versailles Treaty will never rise again. This is guaranteed by two of the largest states in the world (Russia and Germany)."

As to Germany's currently close relations with Russia, he acknowledged that in the past he had declared that the U.S.S.R. was "organized on principles which differ from those held in Germany."

But, he added: "Since it became clear that Stalin saw nothing in these Russian Soviet principles which should prevent him from cultivating friendly relations with states of different political creeds, National Socialist Germany sees no reason why it should adopt another criterion."

The new German-Russian pact, he said, was not only one "of peace, but also of constant, satisfactory co-operation for both states."

He put great stress on what he declared had been his efforts to "rid our relations with France of all trace of ill-will and to render them tolerable for both nations."

Hitler thus ended his speech:
"As Fuehrer of the German people and Chancellor of the Reich I can only thank God at this moment that He has so wonderfully blessed us in our hard struggle for what is our right, and beg Him that we and all other nations may find the right way, so that not only the German people, but all Europe may once more be granted the blessing of peace."

(See other Hitler Speech story on Page 6.)

but they prompted these questions:

1. What guarantee other than Hitler's word—which is absolutely unacceptable to the British government in view of his record of broken promises—is there that the peace terms would be observed?

2. Is it possible to suppose that Great Britain and France would agree to Germany and Russia reconstituting some sort of Polish state between themselves when the Allies went to war because of their pledged word to Poland to protect her frontiers against an aggressor?

3. Britain and France went to war to smash Hitlerism in all that word stands for. Would the peace terms remove the constant threat of Hitlerism to peace and security of Europe? As long as Hitler remains the leader of the German state can the British people rest assured there will be no more outbreaks of aggression, no more territorial grabs and no more nerve-shattering armed diplomacy?

REPLY NEXT WEEK

There was no immediate official reaction to the Reichstag speech. There may not be for a day or two. Prime Minister Chamberlain already has promised to give unhurried, careful consideration to any peace plan advance from Berlin. There is no doubt he will consult the French and Polish governments before making an official reply.

Parliament will reassemble on Monday. Mr. Chamberlain will make his weekly war review Tuesday, and it is possible he will then make his first public reference to Hitler's proposals.

The British people without doubt would refuse to hand over any colonies to Germany, which Hitler said remained his one territorial claim. As a matter of fact the British people probably would refuse to talk about colonies at all, preferring to remember that Hitler told Mr. Chamberlain at Godesberg a year ago that the Sudetenland was his last territorial ambition, since then he has annexed Bohemia-Moravia and Memel to the Reich and smashed Poland.

Moscow-Berlin Cooling Seen

LONDON (CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation today quoted Copenhagen dispatches from Moscow as indicating the Soviet Union was cooling toward its German partner.

Moscow diplomatic circles "increasingly regard the Russo-German pact as an illusion which is about to flicker out as a friendship of convenience that can be dissolved when good sense requires," said the dispatches, which were published in the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken.

"The union is based on hard dealing and the exchange of promises which are amended whenever interest demands it," the dispatch said. "It is appreciated in Moscow that the Germans do not willingly look on Russia's advance to the west at their expense.
Berlin has merely received from Moscow a promise of military neutrality, which they know the Soviets may break. Hitler has further received promises of Russian supplies of raw products, but all experts regard such promises as almost impossible to fulfill without damaging Russia's own defenses."

"Possibly she wants to prolong Germany's power of resistance in war with France and Britain...
"But Russia, which has suddenly become a Baltic power, must give up to her new role by rapidly extending her fleet and air forces, and such a program leaves little over for export to Germany."

Lapointe, Cardin,
Power Enter
Quebec Fight

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec federal cabinet ministers will go into action in the Quebec provincial election campaign this weekend, when both Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Works, are scheduled to speak.

Mr. Cardin will address a mass meeting at St. Denis in his own constituency of Richelieu-Vercheres. Mr. Lapointe will enter the campaign with a radio address from Montreal Monday evening from 6 to 6.30 p.m., P.S.T., over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation French network.

Postmaster - General C. G. Power, meanwhile, is directing the whole Liberal campaign in Quebec, but is expected to make at least two speeches, one in Quebec City, during the brief but intense campaign leading up to the October 25 election.

Mr. Lapointe's meeting dates have not been set definitely as yet, but he will likely speak two or three times, once in Quebec City. Mr. Cardin will also speak several times, although the dates have not been announced.

Adelard Godbout, provincial Liberal leader, who opened a series of campaign speeches today at Nicolet, will speak Saturday at Chicoutimi, where he will also speak over the radio from 5 to 5.30 p.m., P.S.T.; Sunday at Roberval and Lake St. John; Tuesday at Dorchester and Wednesday at Megantic.

DUPLESSIS LOSES TWO

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Duplessis' electoral campaign, launched Wednesday night on the combined issues of provincial autonomy, conscription and Canada's war participation, left him today without the support of two of his English-speaking followers from Montreal, one of them a cabinet minister and the other a government member of the Legislature.

Hon. Gilbert Layton, minister without portfolio in the three-year-old Union Nationale government, and W. R. Bulloch, member for Westmount, quit the government less than 24 hours after the 49-year-old lawyer-premier had asserted at Three Rivers that the campaign leading to the October 25 general election constituted a fight for the life and survival of French-Canadians.

Mr. Layton resigned because he said the premier had placed "party politics before what I consider is his duty as a Canadian."

Mr. Bulloch withdrew his support when he accepted an invitation of the Westmount Conservative Association to run as an independent Conservative in Westmount-St. George riding. He said he was disappointed in the Premier, but added that his own attitude in supporting the federal government in prosecuting the war did not depend on Mr. Duplessis' Three Rivers speech.

Mr. Layton and Mr. Bulloch expressed "amazement and disappointment" at what they described as efforts of the Premier to make political capital out of the situation, to show dissension and race hatred and preach non-cooperation with Ottawa at such a time. Mr. Bulloch said the Premier's action "makes one wonder where the heart and mind of Mr. Duplessis are."

GOUIN SEES THREAT

L'ASSOMPTION, Que. (CP) — In the face of a threat to Quebec's autonomy by Dominion authority, Premier Duplessis has "done nothing to offset the 'menace,'" Paul Gouin, leader of L'Action Libérale Nationale, told a party organization meeting here.

The meeting last night offered Gouin the candidature in L'Assomption county in the provincial election October 25. He told party representatives he would reply Monday to the offer.

The threat to French-Canada's autonomy by the Dominion was "real," Mr. Gouin said, but the leader of the Union Nationale government had not made use of powers the province already possesses to meet the threat.

Mr. Gouin accused Premier Duplessis' government of having failed to legislate for protection of the province's workers and of having given his approval to "chain stores" after having denounced the system before his election in 1936.

The A.L.N. chief said the Premier had failed in his promise to abolish the provincial Legislative Council and replace it by an economic council.

Questions involved in the present election showed, according to Mr. Gouin, that the province was at the "turning point" of its history.

Duplessis Seals
Break With Aides

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's provincial cabinet will be convoked immediately "to accept without delay" the resignation of Hon. Gilbert Layton, Minister Without Portfolio, Premier Duplessis told newspapermen today.

Commenting on a statement last night by W. R. Bulloch, Union Nationale member of the Legislative Assembly for Westmount, that he also was leaving the government party's ranks, Mr. Duplessis said:

"Mr. Bulloch says he cannot accept the opinion expressed by the Union Nationale and its chief relative to the war. Mr. Bulloch has a right to his opinion, but Quebec also has a right to its opinions and it is time he knew it."

The premier said he had received Mr. Layton's letter of resignation today.

"As to Mr. Layton, the motives he gives for saying he had no other alternative but to resign must necessarily be added to the reasons which he knows and which leave him no other choice," the government leader said.

Mr. Layton, member of the Legislative Assembly for Montreal-St. George, said Thursday in Montreal that "after listening to the speech of Premier Duplessis at Three Rivers last night, there remained no choice for me but to resign as a member of his Cabinet." He added that the Premier's "attacks on the federal administration charged with the duty of prosecuting the war that has been declared; his endeavors to make political capital out of this situation, were just as amazing as they were disappointing to me."

VOTERS' CHOICE

"As I said at the Three Rivers meeting, before the interview given by Mr. Bulloch, the people must make their choice between the policy of Mr. Godbout (Adelard Godbout, Quebec Liberal leader) and that of the Union Nationale," said Mr. Duplessis.

"A vote for Justice Minister Lapointe and for Mr. Godbout is a vote for conscription, assimilation and centralization. A vote for the Union Nationale and the government is a vote for the autonomy of the province and against conscription."

The Premier said the government would place a candidate in Westmount-St. George, where Mr. Bulloch will run in the forthcoming provincial election as an Independent Conservative.

The Union Nationale candidate, Mr. Duplessis said, would be "against the Liberal candidate and against the Conservative candidate and will bear proudly the standard of his party and his chief."

LONDON — Scotland Yard detectives went on a spy hunt for a motorcyclist who appeared at various military camps in the United Kingdom. It turned out he was a soldier trying to find a girl working in "some camp."

Reich Navy Chief
Debases Uniform, Say British

LONDON (AP) — The Admiralty, commenting on the German statement that the United States liner Iroquois might be sunk, said "it was surprising that an officer of the former Imperial German navy like Admiral Raeder should demean his uniform by lending himself to such 'baselessness'."

The suggestion was made to Washington through the United States naval attaché at Berlin by the commander of the German navy, Grand Admiral Erich Raeder.

The Admiralty's communique reads:

"The attention of the Admiralty has been drawn to the suggestion emanating from Berlin that the United States ship Iroquois is to be sunk 'through a repetition of the circumstances which marked the loss of the steamship Athenia.' The Athenia was, of course, sunk by a German U-boat, which was plainly seen by responsible survivors, no British submarine being within several hundred miles. The fact that such suggestions should be made by the German government enables us once again to realize and measure the criminal mentality of Nazi party leaders."

Earlier unofficial statements in Admiralty quarters had said any intimation that Great Britain would have anything to do with such a thing was "too absurd to deny."

The British liner Athenia, with many Canadians and Americans on board, was sunk off the coast of Ireland with loss of more than 100 lives, the day Britain declared a state of war existed with Germany.

U.S. SENDS WARSHIP

WASHINGTON (CP) — Navy and coastguard craft moved today to guard the American liner Iroquois following President Roosevelt's disclosed receipt of a startling report that the refugee-laden steamship was to be sunk.

The tip came from the head of the German navy, Admiral Raeder, but it left unanswered the question of how and why and by whom the sinking was to be done. Likewise, it offered no explanation of how the Reich had acquired the information.

The White House disclaimed any belief in the report, which many interpreted as a Nazi manoeuvre to make Americans think the Allies plotted to sink the vessel to arouse sympathy for their cause.

However, comments from Senate foreign relations committee members indicated the manoeuvre "if it was such—was not taken that way by the administration."

Senator Key Pittman, committee chairman and administration lieutenant, said:

"It occurs to me that no one would have more knowledge of such facts than Admiral Raeder—nor as to the method of destruction of a vessel."

796 ABOARD

The Iroquois, a 6,209-ton vessel, left Cobh, Ireland, on Tuesday with a crew of 212 and 584 passengers. The ship was chartered by the U.S. Maritime Commission to cross the Atlantic and bring back Americans who had been caught in Europe at the outbreak of the war.

Mention of the Athenia in Admiral Raeder's dispatch, conveyed to many persons here the impression that Germany was, in effect, saying that Britain or France intended to sink the Iroquois, and then blame a German submarine.

(The New York Herald Tribune in a dispatch from Washington said the "present warning by the German Admiralty regarding the Iroquois" recalled that prior to the last departure of the Lusitania from New York, the German embassy publicly warned Americans against sailing "on that British ship." (The Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine during the last war with some Americans on board and aroused bitter resentment in the United States).

BERLIN'S ATTITUDE

BERLIN (AP) — Informed German comment on Grand Admiral Erich Raeder's warning of the possible sinking of the United States liner Iroquois was limited today to the following:

"Ask Britain—we have done our duty by giving the warning. It is now up to Britain to explain."

Authorized sources said they could not disclose how Raeder came into possession of the information, but they expressed the opinion that the German Admiralty might have picked up a radio message which it had been able to decode.

Hitler's Sincerity Doubted in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some United States senators indicated today they had little confidence in the sincerity of Adolf Hitler's speech to the Reichstag.

"I don't see how Britain and France can put any faith in Hitler's promises," said Senator George Norris, Independent, Nebraska. "I don't have any confidence in him. He has lied so often."

"Every time he takes a country he says he has no further territorial ambitions. But our part in all of this is merely that of a spectator. We should neither insist that peace terms be accepted nor insist that they be rejected."

Senator Gerald Nye, Republican, North Dakota, a leader of the opposition to the United States neutrality bill, told reporters that Hitler, "like presidents, kings and premiers, talks for his folk back home."

Nye said Hitler's statement would not affect the neutrality fight in the U.S. Senate and added that "no matter what they do (in Europe) we must stay out of it."

"I think we should beware of the Greeks when they come bearing gifts," said Senator William King, Democrat, Utah. "I don't believe in Hitler's sincerity. It is hardly to be expected the Allies will give serious consideration to his proposals until and unless he gives additional evidence that he will cease making war and will make some adequate amends to the cruel conquest of Poland."

TRIES TO INTIMIDATE

Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, Kansas; Senator Clyde Herring, Democrat, Iowa, and Representative Peter Jarman, Democrat, Alabama, listened to speech by radio and then went on the air with comments including these:

Capper: "He was trying to frighten Britain and France into peace on German terms, also he was bolstering up the spirit of the German people, but it is up to Britain and France and not to the United States to give the answer."

Herring: "The speech of Hitler impressed me as the plea of a guilty soul which is finally beginning to recognize its own crimes."

Jarman: "He reiterated his philosophy forcefully in the statement that in the final analysis it is not the method but results which count."

Chairman Nor Bloom, Republican, New York, of the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee, described Hitler's speech as "just another threat."

Bloom said he "heard nothing in it that would indicate there was any chance of the other rations getting together with Hitler to discuss peace."

MOTHER FROM IRON
LUNG SUCCUMBS

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Gertrude Epstein, 22, who gave birth to a baby girl yesterday during a brief time she was removed from an "iron lung" respirator, died today at Mt. Sinai Hospital.

She succumbed to what Dr. A. I. Doktrovsky described as "heart paralysis." Hospital attendants said the 6½ pound baby was "doing well."

Mrs. Epstein, an infantile paralysis victim, was removed from a full-length respirator which she entered Tuesday and taken to the delivery room while fire department rescue squad men administered artificial respiration, aided by a light, portable respirator borrowed from Fred B. Snite Jr., the young man who has lived in an iron lung for 3½ years.

Medical records show only 11 known cases of an infantile paralysis complication in pregnancy and no other case where a respirator was used at delivery.

France Fighting Against Hegemony

PARIS (CP-Havas) — Premier Daladier tonight declared France and Britain will not lay down their arms until a peace which excludes all possibility of hegemony in Europe by one state or group of states is "effectively ensured."

"The peace we want excludes all domination in Europe," the premier told the foreign affairs committee of the Senate.

"It can be found only on the right of peoples to life and liberty."

NEW POLAND NOT WANTED IN QUEBEC

QUEBEC (CP) — If Quebec province has the right to live, so have Confederation and Canadian unity, says Oscar Drouin, Liberal candidate in Quebec East in the provincial election set for October 25.

Former minister of lands and forests in Premier Maurice Duplessis' Union Nationale government, Mr. Drouin told an audience here that "if you do not accept the compromises which are offered to you by Mr. Lapointe (Minister of Justice) and Mr. Cardin (Works Minister), I am very much afraid we shall have a new Poland in the province of Quebec."

Mr. Duplessis, in rising up against the Dominion Government, will unite the other eight provinces against Quebec, Mr. Drouin said. Elections were called, he added, because the Premier had no more money with which to run the province.

Hitler's Speech
Old, Say French

PARIS (AP) — Adolf Hitler's peace formula was scorned today by semi-official French sources, which described the proposal as "based on the exploitation of Central and Eastern Europe."

These sources said Hitler's inferential suggestion for creation of a small Polish buffer state "with Germany and Russia gobbling up" the major portion of Poland, had been turned down by both British and French statesmen even before it was made.

The British and French have clearly defined as one of their war aims the recreation of a free Poland.

Semi-official quarters said Hitler's speech followed the lines the French had expected.

There has been no official French reaction as officials maintain there have been no genuine proposals.

If and when Hitler should transmit definite proposals either directly or through a neutral power, French circles indicated, they will be answered to avoid any charge of a flat refusal giving Hitler an opportunity to pose before history as an injured party.

NO NEW MATTER

In some semi-official circles the comment was heard that the Fuehrer had advanced nothing new and had attempted to induce all other powers to bow "to every injunction and every desire" of Germany.

These persons used the words "forced" and "demagogic" to describe the speech.

One said Hitler's attacks against British ministers had become "a personal affair," as had his previous attacks on Chancellor Schuschnigg of Austria and President Benes of Czechoslovakia.

The Fuehrer seeks to present himself as "the champion of European peace and liberty," said one commentator. "On one side he places Germany, whose superiority and love of peace are absolutely dogmatic, and on the other side the western powers."

Pleasant Way to Relieve Piles

If you are a chronic or temporary sufferer from piles, you will be glad to know of an easy and pleasant way to get relief, for almost all of these cases are caused or made worse by a congestion of blood in the lower bowel.

Dr. J. B. Leonhardt found one great cause of piles comes from inside the body and to get satisfying relief this cause should be treated. He also found out this could best be done with an internal treatment. His prescription, Hem-Roid, is therefore directed to getting at what he found to be the most active cause of the trouble. Once this is helped, pile misery is quickly relieved.

The use of Hem-Roid is a very effective, easy and pleasant way to treat piles. MacFarlane Drug Co., Cunningham Drug Stores, or any other druggist, can supply you and if you are not pleased with the first package, you may have your money back. Try it and prepare yourself for a pleasant surprise.

Hem-Roid has been successful in hundreds of cases of piles, many of long standing, and is so successful generally any pile sufferer may give Hem-Roid a trial, without cost if relief is not prompt and satisfactory. Generally good results are seen the first day.

Board Prohibits Securities Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—Further restriction on the importation of securities has been announced by the foreign exchange control board.

From now on, the board will refuse all applications by residents of Canada for permission to import securities, except those securities imported merely for re-registration, after which they are to be re-exported solely for registering a transfer.

The board announced a new procedure for the licensing of imports of securities. After this, all applications for such licenses must be made direct to the board itself instead of to the collector of customs and excise as previously.

Under the new procedure, which became effective at the close of business yesterday, the importer provides full particulars of the securities and the circumstances of the proposed import in quadruplicate. If he is granted a license, he then submits copies of his application to the customs collector.

In contrast to the new policy of prohibiting all but the specifically exempted importations of securities, earlier regulations permitted resident holders of foreign securities to sell them and reinvest in other foreign securities if they wished. The board found this arrangement gave encouragement to "a form of activity which defeats the purpose of exchange control, namely, the purchasing of certain securities and their importation into Canada for the purpose of securing an immediate profit." Officials declined to enlarge on this explanation.

The board feels this new ruling against importation of securities will "confine the privilege of switching to legitimate exchanges of securities in the foreign market concerned, but at the same time will have the effect of preventing transactions which are not within the spirit of the foreign exchange control order."

Records show that the farther from home motorists are, the faster they travel.

FRENCH TANKER RAMS SUBMARINE

PARIS (CP-Havas)—The naval ministry announced a French tanker had rammed and sent to the bottom a German submarine, apparently while the U-boat was preparing to sink the tanker.

The name of the tanker and scene of the incident were not divulged.

The ministry reprinted an account from the official publication of the French oil industry describing how the tanker, passing through submarine-infested waters, rammed and sank the Nazi submersible which was navigating below the surface. Disaster came to the U-boat, naval experts said, because under sea "raft, when submerged to avoid attack, are completely blind and must manoeuvre solely by charts and calculations based on the direction and speed of the ship singled out for torpedoing. If the target zigzags, the U-boat is thrown off the course unless it lifts its periscope above the surface.

Germans Say British Ships Held By Soviet

BERLIN (AP)—The German News Agency, DNB, reported from Moscow that 12 British and five Swedish freighters loaded with cellulose and ores for Great Britain were being held at Murmansk, Soviet Arctic port, on order of Russian authorities.

The Russians explained, the report said, that the measure was based on a decree issued September 9 authorizing the commissar for foreign trade to prevent shipment of Soviet goods to countries where export restrictions created conditions harmful to Soviet trade.

Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, M.P.P. for Vancouver Centre, and Harold E. Winch, M.P.P. for Vancouver East and party leader in the Legislature, will speak at Kamloops on October 12. Mr. Winch will also hold meetings at Prince George on October 14 and at Prince Rupert on October 18.

Stimson Urges U.S. Arms Embargo Repeal

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson favors repeal of the arms embargo in order to help France and Britain, lest the war "in case they are beaten . . . become our own battle."

He believes the embargo unfair to the Allies because, after they reduced their navies in co-operation with the United States in the cause of disarmament, the law "forbids them to resort to our markets in order to repair their consequent weakness."

In a national radio speech the former Hoover cabinet officer discounted the theory that repeal of the embargo would "drag us into war."

"So long as Great Britain and France are fighting and their forces command the seas, the people of the United States cannot be dragged into war except by their own deliberate volition," he said.

Hungary Sends Minister to Moscow

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary, whose government has maintained a policy of watchful silence with European war at the border, has completed re-establishment of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia.

The relations were broken last February 24 when Hungary signed the anti-Comintern Pact (Joining Germany, Italy, Japan and Spain.)

It was announced officially Jozef Cristoffy, former counsellor of the Hungarian legation in Warsaw, had been designated as minister to Moscow.

German eagerness to increase the flow of war supplies from Hungary, meanwhile, was seen in diplomatic quarters in the appointment of a permanent German consul at Szeged, in the heart of a rich Hungarian agricultural section.

Mr. Gravel is a director of a number of companies.

New Military Post Created

OTTAWA (CP)—Brigadier F. L. Armstrong, officer commanding Military District No. 4 at Montreal, has been appointed deputy adjutant-general at defence headquarters staff here, the National Defence Department announced.

Col. J. P. U. Archambault, director of organization and personal services at defence headquarters, has been named to succeed Brigadier Armstrong in Montreal.

The Defence Department said that because of the need for decentralization of certain senior duties, the new post of deputy adjutant-general was created. The adjutant-general's department is concerned with drill, discipline, recruiting and organization of the militia. Major-General H. H. Matthews is the adjutant-general.

Allied Bombers Maintain Patrol

NEW YORK (CP)—Great Britain and France now operate heavy bomber air patrols for a distance of 600 miles off their coasts, according to the skipper of a 7,000-ton freighter, which arrived here yesterday.

"A heavy blow has been dealt to the German submarines," said the captain, declaring bombers overhead kept watch for undersea raiders on a recent ocean crossing.

"When we passed outside the 600-mile zone, we were met by destroyers" which were also escorting eight other freighters, six of them British and two French," he said.

Bomb Sentence

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Judge W. A. Nisbet in County Court here found Fred Babakaeff guilty of placing a bomb under the Ootischenia school near Brilliant, B.C., about 25 miles south of here with intent to do damage, and sentenced him to three years in the penitentiary.

The judge, in passing sentence, said there was "no use in lecturing the defendant or saying what a despicable crime it was."

He said he placed little credence in testimony given by Nellie Babakaeff, daughter of the accused, or Fred Neoschinoff, another witness.

The unexploded bomb was found under the Ootischenia school last spring at the same time that two other schools in the district were slightly damaged by bomb explosions.

Nellie Babakaeff, testifying yesterday, said that paper in which the bomb was wrapped and on which police said Babakaeff's name was written had been used to wrap lunch which she had taken to the packing plant at Brilliant. She also said her father had entered her room about midnight on the night that the bomb was placed under the school and that he had been at home all evening.

Execution at Walla Walla

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—Roy Wright, a 19-year-old youth whose car theft craze led him repeatedly afoul of the law, died on the Washington state prison gallows early today for killing an automobile dealer on a "demonstration" ride.

His victim on the ride last November was John Dee Moore of Yakima, Wash.

Wright said in his last statement: "My life is not worth half of the man I killed," and expressed the hope "the judgment of my sinful life will be a warning to all young boys and girls to not transgress the law."

Wright admitted to Warden James McCauley and newspapermen numerous automobile thefts with which he never had been linked.

The Same Adolf

ADOLF HITLER'S SPEECH TO THE Reichstag today was another "assurance" to the world that Adolf Hitler will try to assume an attitude of toleration to all men when Adolf Hitler has been allowed to have his own way in any policy he may choose to lay down. No matter to what analysis his long peroration may be subjected, no matter what disposition there may be to read something into it suggestive of even the weakest form of sincerity, the only conclusion that can be reached is that the head of the German Reich is determined to prosecute his own policy in the manner which has characterized his progress so far. He has assumed to dictate the sort of peace which would induce him to agree to a truce. None of his collection of proposals harmonizes with the minimum terms already stipulated by the governments of Great Britain and France. He knew that perfectly well when he decided on the phraseology of his statement.

Much of Der Fuehrer's speech, of course, could be catalogued as humorous were its implications not so tragic. What people, statesmen, or government, for example, will again take seriously his reaffirmation that he has "no further territorial demands" to make? What credence can be placed on his assertion that the only interest he is manifesting in the Reich's neighbor states is dictated solely by mutually-beneficial economic considerations? What impression does Adolf Hitler expect to make on the mind and intellect of the average Frenchman when he almost boasts of what he calls his efforts to "rid our relations with France of all trace of ill will and to render them tolerable for all nations"? Did he not tell the same docile Reichstag a little more than four and a half years ago that he would, "in particular, respect and fulfil all obligations arising from the Locarno Pact"? And did he not denounce that Pact less than two years afterward? Shades of Gustav Stresemann and Aristide Briand! Who is he to flaunt his "practical revision" of the Treaty of Versailles—its inequalities and glaring anomalies notwithstanding—and allude to the process as "a happy event for all humanity"? He still preens himself on the fact that he has modified that document bloodlessly save in the case of Poland.

Having unburdened himself of this and more than an hour and 20 minutes of similar Phalarisical rhetoric, Adolf Hitler sounds his appeal for a "broad conference" of the powers to endorse—presumably without equivocation or reservation of any kind—his terms for the laying down of arms. He was naturally constrained to confess that it would be inappropriate to hold such a gathering amid the dropping of bombs and the blasting of cannon. But he exhorted the nations of Europe to heed this: "The leading nations of this continent will one day have to come together in order to draw up, accept and guarantee a statute on a comprehensive basis which will insure for them all a sense of security, of calm; in short, of peace." No body will deny the truth and force of this fundamental prerequisite for a better order. But when the head of the Nazi Reich—the one man in Europe who could have used his influence to bring about such a conference while there was yet time, time even to save himself from the fate to which he now is indubitably destined—expresses himself in this manner, he is merely coloring the sinister part he already has played in the production of one of the world's most ghastly tragedies.

The bromide that it will not be the fault of Adolf Hitler if peace fails and war continues will be noted the world over for what it is worth. The truth that there would have been no war had it not been for the "senseless ambitions" of Adolf Hitler will remain for all time against his latest assertion. In the meantime, however, the governments of Great Britain, the British Dominions, and France, together with Polish leaders, will examine the speech of the German Fuehrer "carefully and unhurriedly." But, in the words of one London daily, if Hitler has made his last offer of peace, "he has also made his last war" for "the power of democracy in Britain and France has taken the decision from his hands." In neither country is there any intention of allowing a Hitler peace to usher in a Nazi Europe.

Another Lie Spiked

NOW THAT A UNITED STATES NAVAL attache has reported officially that he attended the regular service on board the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal last Sunday, Nazi claims that this vessel was recently "badly holed if not sunk" probably will be discontinued. Not even the smallest of Britain's fighting ships can be destroyed by the missiles hurled from the propaganda factory of the Herr Doktor Goebbels.

The British Ministry of Information's official announcement of the German air attack last week says "no ship was hit by bombs and no casualties were sustained." When the Courageous was sunk, it will be recalled, the official announcement followed immediately. The Ark Royal lie, however, is now specifically spiked.

Unique Contest

PROBABLY ONE OF THE STRANGEST by-elections ever to be held in the British Commonwealth was occasioned in the Union of South Africa as a sequel to the recent defeat of the Hertzog government and the formation of a coalition administration by former Premier General Jan Smuts. It was a contest between two ministers in the same cabinet. Colonel Stallard, founder and leader of the Dominion Party, had no seat in the Union Parliament, but he already had been nominated as a candidate for a vacant seat at Maritzburg. He was opposed by Senator the Hon. C. F. Clarkson, a member of the Hertzog government, occupying the position of Minister of Posts and Telegraphs and Public Works.

To the new cabinet, however, General Smuts had called Colonel Stallard to take over the portfolio of Mines, retaining Mr. Clarkson in his former position. Both having been nominated for Maritzburg, neither could legally withdraw from the contest, but Mr. Clarkson asked the constituents to vote for Colonel Stallard, who was elected by 2,893 votes to 124. Mr. Clarkson, who was formerly a senator, will return to the Senate, so all's well that ends well.

It should be noted, incidentally, that 32 members of the Senate of 40 are elected and sit for five years, but a member of one House cannot be elected to the other, yet a Minister of State may sit and speak, but not vote in the House of which he is a member. The other eight senators are selected, mainly for their special knowledge of the requirements of non-European races, by the Governor-General in Council.

Very Clumsy

STRANGE COMPOUNDS HAVE COME from Germany's propaganda factory in recent months; but Reichs-Admiral Raeder's warning that the United States-Ss. Iroquois would be sunk on her way to New York is in a class by itself. The implication in this case is that Great Britain or France, or both, had agreed to this fell plot in the hope that a German submarine would get the blame; hence, the German notification.

As Senator Key Pittman said this morning: "It occurs to me that no one would have more knowledge of such facts than Admiral Raeder—nor as to the method of destruction of a vessel."

It will be recalled that the Nazi government attempted to persuade the rest of the world, first that it was a British submarine which sank the Athenia, next that it must have struck a British mine; but that under no stretch of the imagination could the guilt be fixed on a German underwater fighter. Nor will it be forgotten, incidentally, that the German embassy publicly warned Americans against sailing "on that British ship"—the Lusitania—in 1915. A German submarine sank it. But the Iroquois warning is a badly-bungled piece of Nazi propaganda.

Berlin announces a "political power triangle." One of those eternal things, we suppose.

World Day for Animals, which will be observed in Victoria tomorrow, was suggested for annual observance about a dozen years ago in Czechoslovakia. Last Wednesday was the day dedicated the world over to the memory of St. Francis of Assisi, honored through the ages as the patron saint of the animal world. Many beautiful stories are told of his comradeship with animals, for he felt that all living things had the same Creator. So, at this season we are asked to remember by thought, word and deed the needs of the creatures which share the conscious life of this planet with man. An unselfish group of men and women work to spread merciful teachings in this and other communities. Their efforts require and are worthy of support.

Stalin's Piece of Poland

From New York News

There is a lot of bewilderment over the fact that when Hitler and Stalin got through whacking up Poland, Stalin was found to have gotten more than half of Poland—though not the better more-than-half, to be sure. He got the Pripet marshes in his share. The Communist explanation is that Comrade Stalin told Imperialist Hitler, "Thus far and no farther, Adolf," and took eastern Poland under Moscow's healing, humanizing, benevolent wing.

To us it seems more likely that Hitler gave Stalin a big piece of Poland because Hitler realized "the cohesive power of public plunder." If Hitler had been stingy with Stalin in splitting the Polish spoils, he would have reawakened the recent Russian hatred of Germany. By giving Stalin plenty of Poland, Hitler made sure that Stalin would have a lively interest in keeping his piece of Poland.

Napoleon I and Czar Alexander I met on the raft at Tilsit in 1807, swore eternal friendship, and on paper divided up Europe between them. The friendship lasted not. Napoleon got mad because the Czar insisted on trading with England. In 1812 Napoleon invaded Russia; and that was the beginning of the end for Napoleon.

Left alone, Stalin and Hitler would most likely fall out sooner or later. With the Allies hammering away at them, their natural tendency will be to stick closer together than ever, to defend their joint grab of Poland.

We think now would be a good time for the Allies to lay off and let nature take its course with two strong men, each of whom is the All Highest in his own country.

NEW LEADER

WHEN THE CANADIAN government walked into the economic system of this country the other day and took over, probably no Canadian was more interested or less surprised than Mr. Coldwell of the C.C.F. Here, all at once, was the machinery of the "Good Life," which Mr. Coldwell preaches but, unhappily for him and his friends, they were not at the throttle.

Still, it was a beginning in state control. If not state ownership, and even though it was undertaken to mobilize the nation for war, perhaps it could be used afterwards to mobilize the nation for peace. That must have been what Mr. Coldwell thought.

Now what Mr. Coldwell thought will have no immediate effect on our society, but in the end it may be quite important, for he is now the real leader of the Left in Canada. The original leader, Mr. Woodsworth, uttered his own valedictory when he voted against his party and against the war. It was Mr. Coldwell then who voiced the party view in Parliament. It is Mr. Coldwell who will head the whole movement from now on.

He is a man worth knowing, not alone for his politics, but for himself. No evangelist, he, like the prophetic Woodsworth who looks and is more of a saint than a politician. Mr. Coldwell is no saint and he is a master politician. Not of course, the blowsy politician of the cartoons and legends, but a young, handsome, dapper man with a sharp eye, a quick smile and a clear head. You might take him for a successful business executive, or a professional man. You probably wouldn't take him for what he is, a school teacher turned politician.

NEW LEADERSHIP

HE WILL GIVE THE C.C.F. an entirely new kind of leadership, quite unlike Mr. Woodsworth's—more practical, more earthy and more likely to succeed. To Mr. Woodsworth socialism in Canada was a kind of spiritual vision to which he could never quite give body and substance. It was, or seemed to be, rather a name for his passionate protest against injustice to man rather than a planned system of society.

Mr. Coldwell burns with a similar flame of protest, but it is far better under control. He has studied deeply, been about, met people, and developed from an imperialist in England to an internationalist on the Canadian prairies. He knows, perhaps better than Mr. Woodsworth, what socialism, or any Leftist movement is up against.

Last spring, among other interesting witnesses, they put Mr. Coldwell on the stand before the Banking Committee of the Commons and asked him, by cunning cross-examination, to bring his theories from the clouds down to earth. Mr. Coldwell was quite willing and quite unafraid.

He speaks quietly, putting his sentences together with a scholar's mastery of words, with no rise in voice, no tricks of oratory, rather like a business man explaining a company's balance sheet. The questions flew at him pretty fast that day, some of the best minds of the country bored in on him, but Mr. Coldwell never hurried, never hesitated, never stumbled. This man knows his stuff—a rare treat among reformers.

EVOLUTION ONLY

AND WHAT IS IT that Mr. Coldwell wants to do with Canada? Not, certainly, the things that your whole-hog socialist wants, for he is a politician who knows that the art of politics is concerned mostly with the stuff of human beings, and the human beings of Canada do not propose to give up the institution of private property.

Right at the start, Mr. Coldwell tells the Banking Committee that there is too little private property in Canada among most of us. We need more—"more private property for more people which involves less public property for the few."

Pinned down to a definite answer, Mr. Coldwell, cool as a cucumber after an hour's questioning, says what he would do with our economy. He would have the state take over all the industries that have become monopolies and operate them as departments of the government. This does not mean, however, taking over every small business that is not a monopoly and it certainly does not mean taking over any man's personal property, his house or automobile, which does not contribute to the production of wealth.

But how about the private property represented by the socialized industries? Would you just seize it and ruin the owners. By no means, says Mr. Coldwell. The owners would be paid off in installments by the state, which would issue bonds to provide the necessary money.

This is the competent, cool and pleasant man who leads the Left in Canada, who knows economics, history and politics. It may be that the Right will swallow him up, having already moved far in his direction for war purposes. It may be that, after the war, he will be more important than ever as the representative of the people who would go on with state controls and expand them instead of abandoning them. Whatever happens, Mr. Coldwell will be ready for it—still cool, still smiling, with some hope, but no illusions.

War Becomes Real

By the Foreign Observer

IN AN OBVIOUS but unofficial proposal for peace, the German official radio broadcasts via short wave the announcement in English: "The war is over. With the drawing of the Polish frontiers to include the Germans in Poland, Germany can stack her guns and call her soldiers home."

The reply was almost immediate: The French, unmindful of Berlin's oft-repeated charge that "Britain is willing to fight to the last drop of French blood," unlimbered their biggest guns and pounded the main Siegfried forts from one end of the western front to the other. British planes flew over northwestern Germany, dropping leaflets telling the German people that Berlin's hopes for a lightning war had been destroyed and that Britain was prepared for a three-year war, if not longer.

Thus the war, described by Senator Borah as distinctly "phony," became real. Observers as far removed from the conflict as Japan expect the worst. Thus the Tokio Nichi Nichi editorialized: "Unprecedented air raids on Britain can be expected if Hitler's peace offensive now fails. Moscow has advised Berlin that the greatest blow to British imperialism would be the demolition of the Lancashire spinning industry."

But Britain, meanwhile, was calmly setting up its war machine for the long struggle. Britons from various parts of this Continent applying at their consulate in New York were told to bide their time. Only those who could pay their own steamship fares were given encouragement to return to England and about 78 Britishers, most of them reserve officers in the Royal Air Force, have taken ship within the past week. To those impatient ones unable to pay their passage, consulate officials pointed out that they did not wish to run afoul of the neutrality law "at this time," but promised that "when the law is repealed we will call for volunteers."

REPATRIATION SCHEME

From Financial Post

The scheme of economic mobilization for war launched by the British and Canadian governments and now under full sail has within it the potentialities which might result automatically in the Canadian Pacific Railway being controlled by the Canadian government.

The outbreak of war has brought to an end for the time being at least the C.P.R.'s unification campaign. Railway executives, it is understood, take the view that they have an essential public utility, subject to government control and that nothing must embarrass the government while Canada is at war. It is regarded probable in Ottawa that a committee of executives of the two railways will be appointed to co-ordinate traffic and to facilitate shipment of war supplies. Possibility that through the economic mobilization scheme the Canadian government might in certain circumstances come into control of a majority interest of the common and preferred stock of the C.P.R., does not yet seem to have stirred more than casual interest in railway or government circles.

Here is how this might eventually: Main factor in the British scheme for economic mobilization is the building up of vast credits in Canada. Repatriation of Canadian securities held in Great Britain will likely be one of the first moves to this end.

Investors in Great Britain hold 99.7 per cent of the preferred shares of C.P.R., 53.06 per cent of the common shares and more than half of the bonds.

Probable mechanics of repatriation would be that the British government would take these over at the market price along with other Canadian securities held by British investors, who would be paid in sterling. Thus the British government would be owners. Then the Canadian government might buy these securities and pay for them with dollars placed at Britain's disposal in Canada. These dollars would then be where Britain wants them to further her war effort, and the Canadian government would hold a controlling interest in the C.P.R.

There are several conceivable variations in the mechanics of repatriation, but the whole move opens interesting possibilities both for the C.P.R. and for Canada's railway problem.

ALBINO

Dick Sutton, technician at the Wasagamung Museum, Clear Lake, Man., reports that he saw an albino-ruby-throated hummingbird in the park for 10 days in August. The bird was pure white, with an iridescent sheen on the feathers. This is the only report we have received of albinism in hummingbirds and we have no recollection of a similar case in the bird literature. # Hitler Proposes Europe Conference But No Resurrection of Poland

BERLIN (AP) — Adolf Hitler today proposed a general European conference for a "laying down of arms" which would try for settlement of all problems separating European nations.

For an hour and 20 minutes the Reichstag listened to the address, which was broadcast. It was carried by the networks across Canada and the United States, starting shortly after 3 a.m., P.S.T. Hitler's words were plainly heard in Victoria.

Hitler was introduced by Field Marshal Hermann Goering, who also spoke briefly after the address, giving a pledge to the German people would follow the Fuehrer wherever he might lead. Goering adjourned the sitting.

At intervals Hitler's speech was punctuated by choruses of "Heils" from the assembled delegates.

ARMS REDUCTION

Hitler introduced the subject of a peace conference by saying that the "most important condition" for a "real revival of economic life in and outside of Europe is the establishment of unconditionally guaranteed peace and of a sense of security on the part of individual nations."

"This security," he added, "will not only be rendered possible by a final sanctioning of the European status, but above all by a reduction of armaments to a reasonable and economically tolerable level."

"The essential part of this necessary sense of security, however, is a clear definition of the legitimate use and application of certain modern armaments which can at any given moment have such devastating effect on the pulsating life of every nation and hence create a permanent sense of insecurity."

"I believe, however, that a sense of national security will not return to Europe until clear and binding international agreements have provided a comprehensive definition of the legitimate and illegitimate use of armaments."

"It must surely be possible to emote the Red Cross and draw up some universal valid international regulation. It is only when this is achieved that peace can reign particularly in our densely populated continent—peace which, uncontaminated by suspicion or fear, will provide the only possible condition for real economic prosperity."

"To achieve this great end the leading nations of this continent will one day have to come together in order to draw up, accept and guarantee a statute on a comprehensive basis which will ensure for them all a sense of security, of calm, in short of peace."

"Such conferences could not possibly be held without the most thorough preparation, that is, without exact elucidation of every point at issue. It is equally impossible that such a conference which is to determine the fate of this continent for many years to come could carry on its deliberations while cannon are thundering or mobilized armies are bringing pressure to bear upon it."

SPREAD OF DESTRUCTION

Referring then to the "unthinkable" state of affairs in the west, he added:

"From both sides (eventually) destruction will strike deeper, deeper and whatever cannot be reached by long distance guns will be destroyed from the air. This battle of destruction won't be confined to the land. No, it will reach far out over the sea."

"Today there are no longer any islands. And the national wealth of Europe will be scattered in the form of shells, and the vigor of every nation will be sapped on the battlefields."

"One day, however, there will again be a frontier between Germany and France, but instead of flourishing towns there will be ruins and endless graveyards."

"Mr. Churchill and his companions may interpret these opinions of mine as weakness or cowardice if they like. I need not occupy myself with what they think; I make these statements simply because it goes without saying that I wish to spare my own people this suffering."

"If, however, the opinions of Messrs. Churchill and followers shall prevail, this statement will have been my last. Then we shall fight. Neither force of arms nor lapse of time will conquer Germany. There never will be another November 1918. In Germany history. It is infantile to hope for the disintegration of our people."

DIFFERS WITH CHURCHILL

"Mr. Churchill may be convinced that Great Britain will win. I do not doubt for a single moment that Germany will be victorious. Destiny will decide who is right. One thing only is certain. In the course of world history there have never been two victors, but very often only losers. This seems to me to have been the case in the last war. May those peoples and their leaders who are of the same mind now make their reply, and let those who consider war to be a better solution reject my outstretched hand."

Poland of the Versailles Treaty cannot be reconstructed, Hitler said. "What Poland is to become, he declared, will be determined by Germany and by Soviet Russia alone."

Germany and Russia, he explained, are ready to make all sacrifices for the creation of a peace zone in eastern Europe.

LOOKING INTO FUTURE

DNE, Nazi news agency, sent out an "unofficial version" of the speech from which the following is taken:

"We have again summoned you here to give you an insight into the present, and as far as possible the future. This ringing of bells signifies Germany is celebrating a great and historically unique victory."

"An army of about 50 infantry and cavalry divisions (in Poland) entered the lists against us. Destruction of our German Reich was regarded as self-evident."

"Eight days after the outbreak of this fight the die had been cast."

The Fuehrer then told of deeds attributed to the German army in Poland. His reference to the ringing of bells concerned demonstrations throughout Germany which coincided with his Reichstag speech.

Hitler began speaking at 12.06 p.m. (3.06 a.m., P.S.T.).

Of the Polish operations he said, "German armies . . . covered distances and spaces for the achievement of which more than 14 months would have been necessary 25 years ago."

DESIRES COLONIES

He renounced any further claim to territory with the exception of colonies, but he said these claims were not made in the form of an ultimatum by force, but that the demand was based on political justice.

He made more or less specific proposals for the erection of a Polish state provided that it "not be a centre of intrigue" against Germany and Russia, and settlement of eastern Europe's minority trouble, including some regime for Jews.

His proposed conference, Hitler said, must not be held under a threat of force.

NO WORLD DOMINATION

He dwelt on the political side of the war in the east, bringing out Germany's friendship for Russia and asserting Germany was not striving for world hegemony.

He then discussed what he called his practical revision of the Versailles Treaty, declaring what he had done was a happy event for all humanity.

He had revised the treaty bloodlessly, he said, with the exception of the last phrase—a reference to the Polish war.

"That the last remnant of the Polish army was able to hold out in Warsaw, Modlin and Hela until October is attributable solely to our cool wisdom and feeling of responsibility," Hitler said.

"I had forbidden the sacrifice of more men than absolutely necessary . . . whatever it was absolutely essential to do was done without regard for sacrifices. What, however, could be avoided was left undone."

"An attempt to persuade responsible Polish army leadership—in so far as there was any—concerning the purposefulness, yes, the madness of resistance especially in a city of 1,000,000 inhabitants, proved vain."

"The generalissimo, who himself fled in an inglorious manner, compelled his country to a resistance which at best had led to its destruction."

(Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz was Polish commander.)

"The city (Warsaw) was converted into a fortress . . . the entire population was called upon to participate in the fight."

"Out of pity for women and children I offered those in charge at Warsaw at least to permit the civil population to depart. I offered a truce . . . the proud Polish city commandant did not even deign to reply."

"Bombers and heavy artillery were directed to attack only objects which were military beyond peradventure of a doubt."

Hitler then related the history of the various additional attempts to persuade Warsaw to surrender and his efforts to get foreigners out of the city.

"I finally ordered the attack to begin September 25," he said. "The same defence (command) which first considered it beneath its dignity even entertained more humane proposals then and very quickly changed its attitude."

NOT LIKE ALCAZAR

"The German attack began September 25 to 27. It (the city) capitulated. With 120,000 men, it did not dare to make a bold sally but preferred to lay down its arms. No comparison with the Alcazar (the siege of Nationalists in a military citadel in the Spanish civil war) is in place here."

"The Polish soldier as an individual fought bravely in various places, but his leadership beginning from the top can only be characterized as irresponsible, conscienceless and incompetent."

"I make these assertions to anticipate the formulation of historic legends."

He narrated the plan of the Polish campaign, much along the lines of the German army high command's closing survey September 23.

10,572 KILLED

"Now that I am about to give you the number of our dead and wounded," he continued, "I ask you to rise. (The shuffling of the deputies' feet was heard by Victoria listeners.)"

"Even if this number hardly totals a 20th part of what we believed at the beginning of the campaign we might have to fear, yet let us not forget that everyone who here gave his life made the greatest sacrifice that any man can make for his people."

"According to the casualty list of September 30, which will not change materially, total losses for the army, navy and air force, including officers, was the following: 10,572 killed, 30,322 wounded and 3,404 missing."

Hitler turned to Germany's new relations with Russia, which, he said, grew out of the collapse of Poland.

"If this step on Germany's part (steps to liquidate Poland) has resulted in a community of interests with Russia," Hitler declared, "that is due not only to a similarity of problems affecting the two states but also to that conclusion which both states have arrived at with regards to their future relationships."

"In my speech at Danzig I have already declared that Russia was organized on principles which differ from those held in Germany."

"However, since it became clear that Stalin saw nothing in these Russian-Soviet principles which should prevent him from cultivating friendly relations with states of different political creed, National Socialist Germany sees no reason why it should adopt another criterion."

INDIVIDUALITIES CLEAR

"The Soviet Union is the Soviet Union, Nationalist Germany is Nationalist Germany. But one thing is certain: From the moment when the two states agreed to respect each other's distinctive regime and principles, every reason for a mutually hostile attitude has disappeared."

Tracing then the past relations between Russia and Germany, Hitler added:

"It is easy to understand that capitalist states of the west are interested today in playing off these two states and their principles against one another. For this purpose, and until it is realized, they would certainly regard the Soviet Union as a sufficiently respectable partner for conclusion of useful military pacts."

Hitler said the western states regard it as a "perfidy" because their approaches to Russia were rejected and, instead, a rapprochement between Germany and Russia resulted.

Then he labeled the German-Russian pact of friendship and mutual interests insurance "not only of peace but also of constant, satisfactory co-operation for both states."

"Germany and Russia together," he said, "will relieve one of the most acute danger spots of Europe of its threatening character and will, each in her own sphere, contribute to the welfare of peoples living there, thus aiding European peace in general."

Hitler, speaking at a very rapid rate, said the German-Russian agreement was the best refutation of assertions by "insolent journalists" that "Germany is aspiring to world domination."

TALKS OF PACIFICATION

He then outlined five "aims and tasks" resulting from the collapse of Poland "in so far as the German sphere of interests is concerned. These, he said were:

1. Demarcation of a German border which "will do justice to the historical, ethnological and economic facts."

2. Pacification of the entire conquered territory "by restoring tolerable measures of peace and order."

3. A guarantee of security for Germany and its entire sphere of interest.

4. Re-establishment and reorganization of life, trade and transport.

5. Establishment of a "new order of ethnographic conditions, that is to say, resettlement of nationalities."

Developing the fifth point, he declared this was not a problem restricted only "to this particular sphere but a task with far wider implications, for the east and south of Europe is to a large extent filled with splinters of German nationality, whose existence cannot be maintained."

In the very existence of such splinters, he said, "lies the reason and cause for continual international disturbances. . . . It is, therefore, essential for a far-sighted ordering of the life of Europe that resettlement should be undertaken here so as to remove at least part of the material for European conflicts."

Germany and Soviet Russia will support each other in attaining this end, Hitler said, and "never will allow a residual Polish state of the future to become a disturbing factor" for Germany or for good relations between Berlin and Moscow.

He then launched into an analysis of the "methods of Versailles" and why they "proved an utter failure."

RESURRECTION

"Since the resurrection of the German people" through National Socialism (Nazism), he declared, relations existing between Germany and surrounding nations had been cleared up to a great extent.

"The uncertainty that today is weighing down the common life of nations is not due to German demands," Hitler asserted, "but to malignant insinuations published in the so-called democracies."

"German demands themselves were formulated in a very clear and precise way."

"They have, it is true, found their fulfillment, not thanks to the insight of the League of Nations but thanks to the dynamics of natural development."

"The aim of German foreign policy as pursued by me has never been other than to guarantee the existence, that is to say, the life of German people, to remove the injustice and nonsense contained in the treaty which not only destroyed Germany economically but has drawn victor nations into disaster as well."

Then Hitler expressed his conviction that it was "fortunate for humanity" that he had succeeded in removing the "craziest, most impossible" Versailles clauses without bloodshed in all cases but Poland and "without compromising foreign statesmen in the internal politics of their countries."

SURVEYS EFFORTS

Hitler summarized under 10 points his efforts to "clear up relations between ourselves and our neighbors."

He mentioned nonaggression pacts with the Baltic states and Germany's endeavors to establish and continue friendly relations with countries such as The Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Italy.

He laid special stress on his efforts "to rid our relations with France of all trace of ill will and to render them tolerable for both nations. . . . The return of the Saar territory was one demand which I regarded as an indispensable precondition of a French-German understanding. After France herself had found a just solution to this problem, Germany had no further claims against France."

"No such claim exists any longer and no such claim shall ever be put forward."

Alsace-Lorraine, Hitler said, "does not constitute a problem which could even interfere with French-German relations," because, he said, it was of "slight importance to Germany."

"It is impossible for a French statesman to get up and declare that I have ever made any demands on France the fulfillment of which would have been incompatible with French honor or French interests," he maintained.

The Reichstag thundered with cheers when he added: "It is, however, true that instead of demands I have always expressed to France my desire to bury for ever our ancient enmity."

Turning to Germany's other enemy in the west, Hitler declared he had devoted "no less effort" to achieve Anglo-German friendship. He denied ever having acted contrary to British interests.

"Animosity on the part of certain British statesmen and journalists," he charged, had caused the failure of these endeavors. Asserting that the aim of these men was "to seize the first opportunity in order to resume the fight with Germany," Hitler expressed belief that "there can only be real peace in Europe and

Flag Ceremony At Orphanage

An impressive ceremony was held at the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage yesterday afternoon when a representative gathering took part in a flag and flagpole dedication service.

A 67-foot pole and a 12 by 6-foot Union Jack had been donated to the orphanage. Reginald Hayward, president of the orphanage, welcomed those present and explained how the flag and pole had come into the institution's possession.

Ernest Peatt, of Colwood had given the pole, which would have cost between $200 and $250 had it not been for his generosity, Mr. Hayward said. The city and B.C. Electric Railway Company had erected the pole and donated part of the equipment needed in doing so, and Major F. V. Longstaff had also given part of the equipment. The Melrose Company had painted the pole.

DEDICATION SERVICE

The flag was donated by the treasurer, R. H. Shanks.

Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, conducted the dedication. Major Longstaff, with the assistance of one of the older boys in the gathering, which included most of the children of the orphanage and the outside guests, "toggled" the new flag to the halcyons while God Save the King

"Because of this conviction," he said, "I have often shown the way to an understanding. If in the end there was not the desired result, it was not really my fault."

Generous Response To Orphanage's Pound Party

Despite the many calls made by various war causes, the customary generous response rewarded the appeal of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage—at its annual pound party—held at the Hillside institution yesterday. At the end of the afternoon, stacks of apples, pears, sugar, flour, jam, preserves and other welcome supplies, together with cash donations totaling $75, testified to the kindly and practical interest taken in the orphans.

Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, the president, and Mrs. D. C. Hughes of the committee received the guests. The 42 children, including a bonny baby of 9 months, were on hand to greet the visitors and assist with the program, under the supervision of Mrs. A. Barner, the matron, and her assistant, Mrs. E. Harkness.

Miss Enid Fox, vice-president of the auxiliary, announced the details of the attractive program given before and during the tea, among the children of the home who took part being Irene and Lillian Hukkin, who danced a jig; Irene and Charlie Ellington, who recited "The Frog"; Billy and David Steele, who gave an action song, "Old Faithful," and a group of boys who sang "Home on the Range," a number which proved so popular that it had to be repeated later. Miss Jean Grant was the guest artist, contributing three delightfully sung numbers, "A Bird Sang in the Rain," "Cloths of Heaven" and "Connaist le Pays." Her accompanist was Miss Noel Smith.

Tea was served in the big dining-room from a long candle-lit table, at each end of which stood an enormous tray of Michaelmas daisies and bronze-colored chrysanthemums in a silver basket.

Mrs. W. A. Luney, assisted by Mrs. R. T. Elliott, were the convener, and other members of the committee assisting were Mesdames F. Dillabough, W. Dinsmore, Frank Calvert, O. M. Brown, E. Hedde, E. M. Brown, Cox, F. Shepherd, J. G. Simpson, Butler, King and Humphreys, and Misses Murray and Newbury. Members of the Junior Auxiliary also assisted in the tea-room.

A flag-raising ceremony was held in the grounds at 4.15.

ments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with the three-tier bride's cake, with pink carnations in silver vases and pink candles in silver holders. Mr. and Mrs. F. Smith of Nanaimo were among the guests.

After a honeymoon in Seattle and Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home in Victoria.

SHEPHERD—COX

In the presence of relatives and friends a quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Matthias Church on Saturday evening, September 30, when Rev. Alan Gardiner united in marriage Winnifred Edith, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Cox of West Vancouver, to Gunner Herbert William Shepherd, son of the late Herbert Shepherd of Upwell, Wisbech, England, and Mrs. R. L. Evans of Tod Inlet, V.I.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a blue tailored suit with smart hat and veil and accessories to match. Her corsage bouquet was of bridal roses and swansonia. Mrs. Henry Clark, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, attired in a blue tweed suit with a corsage of pink carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Nona Poulson, wore a royal blue jigger suit and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The groom was supported by his brother, Robert Evana. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's aunt.

The Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., will offer two prizes to selected grades from the Sir James Douglas School, the two best essays on "The events which let up to the birth of British Columbia." The prize will be presented at the birthday tea to be held by the chapter on November 19. Plans to this end were made at yesterday's meeting of the chapter.

Mrs. D. Hatch entertained at a tea on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Olive Flannigan, an October bride-to-be. The tea table was centred with a miniature bride and vases of mauve and pink flowers. The bride-to-be received many useful and dainty gifts. The invited guests were: Mesdames J. Flannigan, G. Philpott, T. Smith, S. Hedley, J. Hudson, L. Lancaster, W. Weeks, and the Misses K. Flannigan, S. Faulkner, E. Philpott, R. Hudson and K. Weeks.

In honor of Miss Eva Aldridge, whose marriage to Mr. "Babe" Ford will take place shortly, her bridesmaids, Miss Gloria Horsford and Miss Jean Miller, entertained about twenty friends at a delightful party last evening at the home of Mrs. P. V. Ford, 1112 Greenwood Avenue.

The decorations were carried out in red and blue, the colors of the artillery to which the groom-to-be is attached. Four miniature guns were mounted at the corners of the supper table, and red and blue flowers made an attractive centrepiece. Similar flowers were used throughout the rooms.

During the evening Miss Aldridge received a dinner service, concealed in a red and blue shell, and a colonial bouquet, the gift of the assembled guests.

Mrs. Edgar Borde and Miss Irene Davis were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Mrs. S. Davis, 1330 Rudlin Street, in honor of Miss M. Panting, whose marriage is to take place shortly. Upon her arrival the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of white carnations. The useful gifts were concealed in a pretty box at the foot of a decorated standard lamp, the color scheme being yellow and white. Games were enjoyed and the prize winners were: Miss Catherine Davey and Miss Evelyn Fleming.

Refreshments were served in buffet style from a table centred with yellow and white chrysanthemums and yellow tapers in crystal holders. The invited guests were: Mesdames H. Panting, H. A. Baxter, N. Smith, C. Price, S. Davis, and the Misses A. Morris, Catherine and Margaret Davey, Margaret and Evelyn Fleming, Marjorie and Vida Andrews, Merlie Sprinkling, Violet Brown and Isabel Nicholls.

In compliment to Miss Marjorie Scarrett, whose marriage to Mr. Alfred Langton, will take place this month, Miss Marjorie Delmastro entertained last evening at her home on North Park Street. On behalf of the assembled guests Miss Scarrett was presented with a set of cut crystal stemware. Those present included Miss Scarrett, Mrs. G. H. Scarrett, Mrs. J. Delmastro, Mrs. M. Stewardson, Mrs. Flack, Mrs. C. Marsh, and the Misses Isabel McAlpine, Joan Gower, Frances Clark, Lillian Hill, Alice Dawson, Doreen Petherbridge, Marie Costello, Dorothy Ware, Hazel Williamson, Mildred Hardiman, Thelma Minto and Muriel Crawford. Gay zinnias centred the supper table, flanked with white tapers in silver sconces, at which Miss Alice Dawson poured tea. Miss Scarrett, on arrival was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Betty Patton was the guest of honor when Miss Barbara Cocks entertained at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. B. Nash, Estevan Avenue, last night. Upon her arrival, Miss Patton was given a corsage bouquet of pink roses, and as the guests, who were her former associates in the Educational Department of provincial government, arrived, they presented pretty gifts. A buffet supper brought an enjoyable evening to a close. The table was centred with a cake made by Mrs. Nash, cleverly iced to represent a little grey church flanked by small vases of pink and blue flowers, and with a tiny bride couple approaching its doorway. Pale green candles lighted the setting and completed the charming motif.

Those present were Misses Margaret Freeman, Freda Wheaton, Sammy Cumming, Eleanor Kenwick, Ruth Raymond, Vivian Martin, Betty Morrison, Eva Orr, Jean Henry, Winnie Snafe, Frances Anderson, Alice Eldridge, Frances Law, Peggy Alexander, Margaret Clark, Margaret Howroyd and Gladys Miles.

A surprise shower was held recently in Terry's by Misses Helen and Hilda Jacques in honor of Miss Evelyn Davies. On arrival of the bride-to-be, Dorothy Finn presented her with a corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses, and Mrs. Davies Jr. of S. S. Robinson with corsages of pink carnations. Miss Davies was later presented with a handsome dinner service by Miss Agnes Finn on behalf of the guests present.

Dorothy Finn sang a solo and games and guessing contests were played, prizes being won by Frances and Laura Tatham, Mrs. R. Stevenson and Evelyn Finn. Refreshments were served from tables decorated with pink and white streamers centred with bowls of pink and white pom-pom dahlias. The guests included Mesdames Davies, Davies Sr., S. Robinson, W. DEDICATE FLAGPOLE AND FLAG AT B.C. ORPHANAGE—At an interesting ceremony yesterday afternoon the new 60-foot flagpole and large Union Jack were dedicated. Those in the picture from left to right are: Major F. V. Longstaff, who raised the flag; Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, who delivered the address; R. H. Shanks, treasurer of the orphanage, who presented the flag; Gilbert Fraser, director; Reginald Hayward, president, who presided at the ceremony, and Alderman Archie Wills, who represented the Mayor and City Council.

THE WORLD SERIES OPENS—First ball pitched in the first game of the world series on Tuesday between the New York Yanks and the Cincinnati Reds went to Bill Werber, Reds' third baseman, who flied out to Selkirk, Yankee left fielder. Werber is shown in the picture completing his swing. (Acme.)

HARASSED INVADING NAZIS—These Polish civilians, according to German information, were taken prisoners by Nazi troops for sniping. They were among those who harried the invading armies in the Polish Corridor area. The men are shown before they were taken away somewhere in the Corridor. What happened to them afterwards was not disclosed.

MOTORIZED FRENCH ARMY ACTIVE—This picture, one of the first taken on the western front, was passed by the French censor and was flown to this continent from Foynes, Ireland. The scene shows the arrival of a camouflaged, light French tank in the zone of operations. A French soldier is unloading it from the railroad truck that brought it to the front line.

HELD BY BRITISH—Dr. Ernst (Putzi) Hanfstaengl, one-time close friend of Adolf Hitler, was said by acquaintances to have been interned by the British government. His case, it was said, would be reviewed by one of the special tribunals created by the British Home Office to deal with "enemy aliens."

KING ZOG BULGES—What bulges so ominously in that hip pocket, King Zog? Albania's ex-ruler, in exile, leaves his London hotel apparently prepared for the worst.

'LOAFING' ALONG ON WAR JOB—Members of the Auxiliary Territorial Service are shown carrying a batch of bread from an army bakery at a Hampshire camp to the quartermaster's store for distribution to Tommy Atkins. Formerly this job of feeding Mr. Atkins was an all-male business. Tommy should be better fed with the touch of a woman's hand around the camp.

GERMANS THREATEN TO SINK THE MAURETANIA—A "veiled threat" to sink the new liner Mauretania, upper, was contained in an English news bulletin broadcast from Hamburg, according to a London newspaper. The Mauretania has only a few passengers aboard and has three guns mounted on her decks, the announcer declared. The lower photo shows an anti-sub gun recently mounted on the Mauretania's rear deck. Germany has threatened to attack British merchant ships without warning if they carry guns.

OFFICERS AT OTTER POINT—A group of officers of the First Battalion, 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, now in camp at Otter Point, from left to right: Back, Lieut. Eric Stewart and Lieut. W. H. Gibson; centre, Major Stuart Robertson, second in command; Capt. Cyril Wightman and Lieut. Larry Henderson; front, Major Eric Henderson, commanding officer, and Capt. W. H. Parker.

MAJOR-GENERAL WINDSOR IN PARIS—Wearing his service uniform of a major-general in the British army, the Duke of Windsor is shown with his Duchess shortly after their arrival in France. The Duke will serve as a member of the British general staff. He relinquished his traditional title of field marshal to take the job on active service.

STUDENT BOMBING CREWS BECOME EXPERTS—At flying schools for bombing plane crews in England, the student crews are rapidly developing into full-fledged bombing crews, such as have flown over the Siegfried line and Berlin, photographing fortifications and vital buildings. One of these student crews is shown loading bombs for high-altitude practice, top, while an aerial gunner, bottom, tests his marksmanship with a camera gun. The "shots" fired click the shutter and record a picture of the target to enable instructors to judge the pupil's ability without wasting ammunition.

ESCAPED WITHOUT A SCRATCH—Only in Toronto could this operation be performed. When the lights went out in the west end of the city, two powerful bulbs above the safety zone at St. Clair and Glenholme Avenues, were the only lights on the street. These two gentlemen waited patiently in a barber shop for the lights to come on and finally decided time was more important than modesty. Chairs, barbers and customers moved out to the safety zone and locks and whisksers were removed while pedestrians, motorists and streetcar riders stared.

World Series

We'll Be Back
Reds DeclareSports
Mirror

IF IT COMES TO a choice between basketball and Canadian rugby, Hank Rowe, star running guard of Victoria's Canadian champion Dominos, will pick the grid game.

Full of bruises and enthusiasm, lank Hank is pinning his hopes on making the Revellers for the rest of the season, consequences in hoop circles notwithstanding.

George Deacon, grid coach, is impressed with the showings Rowe has made in workouts. He looks to be a cinch to get into games in Vancouver tomorrow and here on Monday.

When the rugby season is over, he may return to basketball. But his affiliation with the Dominos is not definite.

That latter proposition must, of course, be weighed in the light of past experiences. It's just about the time for the annual reports about the Canadian hoop champions breaking up. Murmurs reaching this corner would suggest the allegiance of "Busher" Jackson and Roy Taylor is none too firm, either. But then, this is the season for rumors.

According to present indications, three teams will be operating in the senior division this year. As opposition, Dominos are expected to have North-western and the former Senators who may play under another name.

Whatever may be the prospects of individual teams—and the senior B section has taken something of a beating from enlistments—the provincial association appears healthier than it has for some years.

The Victoria and District League wound up the 1938-39 season with money in the bank, as did the Vancouver Island Association and the B.C. Association. With a bit of a nest egg, organization should be greatly facilitated for the coming season.

That nest-egg, incidentally, was acquired in a spasm of mental agony to Victoria. It represents the association's cut from the torrid Canadian finals at the close of last season which caused palpitations among the more devout local fans and exacted a heavy toll in general mental strain as the series went the full five games.

Thanks to the percentage the provincial body received from B.C. play-offs, the younger teams in the province were given substantial assistance in the way of traveling expenses on their various title quests.

The Canadian Basketball Association this year also rests in funds. Edmonton Grads, perennial international women's champions, provided their quota to the Dominion kitty and that, with the Canadian men's finals, has made the parent body a thing of substance.

It is interesting to note that whenever Canadian men's senior A finals are played in the west, the C.A.B.A. benefits financially. When they go east, the Canadian Association is lucky to break even.

That would indicate that basketball reaches a far higher competitive point in the West than the East. It might also indicate that the West, particularly Victoria, is hungry for first-grade national competition in any line of sport and is ready to support it with chips.

The future of the Macaulay Point Golf Club appears as big a mystery as some midwinter tourney handicaps. On the street you hear reports the club will shortly cease operations, owing to occupation of fairways by mill-

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati Reds are a "brave lot of boys, if nothing else." When they left here last night, bound for home and a resumption of the World Series against New York Yankees tomorrow, they yelled belligerently: "We'll be back."

Manager Bill McKechnie said: "Nobody can tell me we are as poor a ball club as we've looked the last two days. We're going home with our heads up."

McKechnie was right—the Reds cannot be quite that bad. Few clubs, in any kind of series, ever were mowed down so mercilessly as they have been in two straight games.

In two games they have made just six hits, all singles. Only one Redleg, Ival Goodman, has reached second base, and he scored their lone run in the first game after drawing a walk. Of the three who saw first after sampling Pearson's deceptive fast ball yesterday, two on clean hits and another on a pass, none went any further.

When Ernie Lombardi plunked his single to centre in the eighth yesterday, he broke a string of 12 consecutive innings in which the Reds had failed to scratch any sort of a hit, and had been retired in order by Ruffing and Pearson.

Monte Pearson, 30-year-old veteran from Oakland, Calif., pitched one of the classic games of World Series history for Yankees, allowing two hits.

The Reds said it was his fast ball, rather than his sweeping curve, that baffled them.

It is just like the Yankees that the weakest hitting regular on their side, Babe Dahlgren, should have been the batting hero of the first two games. In six official times up he has blasted a home run and two doubles, a record that even Lou Gehrig, the man he succeeded at first base, might not have bettered.

He drove across the Yankees' tying run in the opening game, scored their first run yesterday after doubling to open the third frame and then hit his four-bagger in the fourth.

Both teams were scheduled to work out today at Crosley Field in Cincinnati, site of the next three games. McKechnie is sticking with his original choice of Junior Thompson, rookie right-hander, to try and stop the Yankees tomorrow. Joe McCarthy will put off the announcement of his choice which he believed to lie between Oral Hildebrand and Bump Hadley.

The Reds will not have to face either Ruffing or Pearson again for a couple of days, Joe promised.

Recreation Centres
Usher in New Season

Close to 300 persons crowded into the Memorial Hall Wednesday night to witness the opening program of the sixth winter season of the Provincial Recreation Centres.

The show featured gymnastics and dancing by the men and women leaders of the Victoria and district centres. The majority of performers had previously represented Victoria in gymnastic competitions, being trained by Mrs. Joan Horsfield and Alfred Batchelor.

Alderman W. H. Davies, representing the mayor, opened the show, which lasted an hour. Alderman J. A. Worthington praised the work that was being carried on by the centres since the inception of the scheme six years ago.

Mrs. Horsfield and Batchelor spoke on behalf of the women's and men's classes, announcing the forthcoming schedule.

But when you phone Fred Burns, professional, for the facts, he simply replies his instructions are to keep on playing golf.

FIRST RUN FOR YANKS—Joe Gordon slid home on Babe Dahlgren's double in the fifth inning of Wednesday's World Series opener to tie the score at 1 to 1 and lead the New Yorkers to their opening victory, 2 to 1, over Cincinnati Reds. Cincinnati catcher Lombardi is making a futile swipe at Gordon in the picture above as Umpire McGowan calls the play at the plate.

Lou Gehrig
AND SO FAREWELL

NEW YORK (AP)—A broad-shouldered fellow in a Yankee baseball uniform, with a familiar No. 4 on his back, slowly climbed the three steps out of the Yankee dugout before the second game of the World Series.

From a distance, Lou Gehrig, who did so much for the Yankees, looked like a young man—robust and strong. But he grasped a railing to climb those steps yesterday.

It was the only time, in the past two days of series play that Gehrig, stricken with infantile paralysis, appeared on the Stadium field in uniform. Perhaps it was the last time he ever will. Lou's contract is up this year and, unless the Reds win two games in Cincinnati, this series won't return to the Stadium.

Does Anybody Want
To Buy a Clipper?

SPOKANE (AP)—Pat Gilkey and Roy Hotchkiss, co-owners of the Spokane Clippers of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, said last night the team would be sold "piecemeal" if a buyer for the franchise did not appear before Monday.

"We would like to see someone take over the team here, and we also believe the players deserve a break," said Gilkey, adding that the eight men owned by the team would have little opportunity to sign with some other club unless released immediately.

Louisville Wins
Deciding Fixture

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Louisville Colonels of the American Association, pushed across four runs in the 11th inning here last night to defeat Rochester Red Wings of the International League, 7 to 3, in the deciding game of the little world series.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Buddy Baer of Sacramento, Calif., opened his heavyweight boxing "comeback" after a year's layoff by knocking out Sandy McDonald of Dallas, in the second round of their scheduled 10-round main event here last night.

Referee Travis McCall finished the count two seconds before the second round would have ended. Baer weighed 248, McDonald 215.

Crawford and Hopman Lose

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Defending Champion Harry Hopman of Australia was bounced out of the Pacific Coast annual tennis championships yesterday by Wayne Sabin, Portland, Ore., during a series of matches which saw Charles Hare of England, and Jack Crawford, Australian veteran, also go down to defeat.

Sabin trimmed Hopman, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3. Elwood Cooke, another Portland product, downed Hare, 6-3, 6-2, and Frankie Parker, Los Angeles, eliminated Crawford, 10-8, 3-6, 6-3.

Other favorites came through as expected in the singles play. Robert Riggs, Chicago, national men's singles champion, defeated Robert Peacock, University of California, 10-12, 6-2, 6-4, and Jack Bromwich, Australia, eliminated Gene Smith, Berkeley, 6-2, 6-4. All were fourth round matches, placing the winners in the quarter-finals.

In a third-round tussle, Adrian Quist, Australia, defeated Amado Sanchez of the Philippines, 8-6, 6-2.

Women's singles advanced to the quarter-final round, Mary Hardwick, England, defeating Anne Morgan, Oakland, 6-4, 7-5, while Miss Hardwick's fellow countrywoman, Freda Hamersley, defeated Margaret Osborne, San Francisco, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. Mary Arnold of Los Angeles, defeated Margaret Jessee, Sacramento, 6-1, 6-1.

Helen Willis Moody, Berkeley, teamed with Harry Hopman, Australia, reached the third round of mixed doubles when they defeated Mary Arnold, Los Angeles, and Edward G. Chandler, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1.

The world's champion doubles team composed of Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist, of Australia, advanced through the first round.

To Play Games
In Vancouver

Two Victoria athletic teams will invade Vancouver tomorrow to continue their bids for soccer and Canadian rugby laurels.

Coach George Deacon's Revellers Canadian rugby team will stack up against the University of British Columbia twelve in the second "Big Four" battle of the season in the mainland city.

The other Capital City invaders will be Manager Arthur Poyntz's Victoria footballers who will battle Radialis, who won the Dominion soccer championship last year.

Both local teams have only one competitive battle tucked under their belts. Deacon's gridders put up a sporty fight but went down to defeat 10 to 8 before Knights of Columbus of Vancouver in their opener, while the Victoria soccer men handed the visiting Vancouver St. Saviours a 4 to 2 humbling in their opening Pacific Coast Football League battle last Saturday.

GAMES MONDAY
North Shore soccer and Canadian rugby teams will be here for Thanksgiving Day engagements. North Shore footballers will take on Dr. Poyntz's eleven at Athletic Park at 2:45, and Victoria Revellers will be hosts to North Shore ruggers at MacDonald Park, with the game starting at 2:30.

Victoria's soccer team for the mainland game was announced today as follows: Bobby Moss, Arnie Wilkinson, Bobby Bell, Harold Sage, Glen Robbins, Roy Barnes, Tony Hope, Cliff Robbins, Jimmy Worswick, Noel Morgan, Ralph Cosier, George Barnes and Jack Cook. Gordy Bell and Alun Reside, two smart footballers, are expected to be in the local line-up for Monday's game here.

Table Tennis Games
Billed Next Monday

On Monday night in the Crystal Garden 10 of the best players of the Victoria Table Tennis Association will be selected and formed into two teams to oppose quintettes from the navy and P. and O. liner Rajputana. Games will start at 8.

Both contests will be a best-of-three game series. The games were originally scheduled for tonight, but owing to unforeseen circumstances officials were forced to postpone them.

The playing quarters will be closed Friday and Saturday owing to the flower show to be held at the Garden.

MOTORCYCLE DANCE
The annual dance of the Victoria Motorcycle Club will be held Monday evening at the Crystal Garden from 9 until 1. Len Acres' Orchestra will be in attendance.

The electric motors of modern battleships have the energy of 1,000,000 men.

INTERCLUB DRAW
The interclub men's match draw follows, with the Gorge Vale players mentioned first:

9:30—F. Painter and Leo Derringer vs. E. Colgate and B. Hurlings.
9:35—J. W. Sangster and H. J. Price vs. A. D. Macey and W. S. Masters.
9:40—C. Brynjolfson and M. Ott vs. J. Simpson and A. T. Reynolds.
9:45—G. E. Davies and G. Cartwright vs. H. H. Livsey and A. C. Savage.

NEW CAPTAIN CHOSEN
At the first meeting of the new committee of the Gorge Vale club held this week, Mrs. D. R. Hurdle was unanimously elected captain to succeed Mrs. H. P. Hodges, retiring captain.

Plans were made for an informal Halloween party for members to be held at the clubhouse on Friday evening, October 27.

Cycle Climb Off
The Victoria Motorcycle Club's hillclimb scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, at Mount Douglas, has been postponed, officials said today.

WESTS WORK OUT
The Victoria West football team will hold a workout Saturday at Central Park, at 2:30. All members of the team and others interested are requested to attend.

New York City's subway and elevated lines carry nearly 2,000,000 passengers annually.

A nursing bottle that fits into a vacuum bottle to keep the milk warm for traveling and for two a.m. feedings has been developed.

Farm Efforts To Be Detailed

Detailed plans for the war effort by British Columbia's farming population will be worked out at a meeting next Tuesday of the special agricultural committee of departmental officials, J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, announced on his return here today from Ottawa, where he attended a gathering of farm officials from all over Canada.

J. A. Grant, markets commissioner, and Ernest MacGillivray, secretary of the Minister of Agriculture, have visited all major centres on the prairies studying market possibilities, and G. H. Stewart, surveyor—Vancouver Island farm resources. As a committee they will draft recommendations for the government on what farmers should do.

Mr. Munro said the aim of the war farm policy will be to balance adequate production against the avoidance of waste in material and labor.

British Columbia, Mr. Munro noted, was the first province to initiate action in the organization of its agriculture for war purposes. Before he left for the east the committee had sent out circulars to farmers indicating some of the projects that might be undertaken.

For the moment requirements of the British market from Canadian farms are uncertain. To a large degree Britain is buying foodstuffs from neutral countries, obviously with the idea of preventing these supplies reaching Germany. But Canada, with well-stocked shelves, will be a vast storehouse for the Allies when the Atlantic convoy system is complete.

Government to Aid Civil Authorities

Interest has been aroused in Victoria over announcement from Ottawa that, through the Defence of Canada regulations, the Dominion Government has defined "essential services" to cover utilities and municipal services.

Whether this means the government will assign troops to guard these public utilities is not yet known, but officials of the City Hall were interested to learn the government was taking an interest in aiding civil authorities in protection of such services.

It is costing the City of Victoria $130 a week to keep guards on its water system. Oak Bay and Saanich, while assuring the city of their sympathy in such extraordinary expenditure, have said they are unable to contribute to the cost of the protection.

The Defence of Canada regulations prohibit anyone trespassing upon or loitering near premises used for essential services. They also prohibit doing any act to impair the efficiency of any undertaking engaged in the performance of such services.

The regulations state that "essential services" are "such services as may for the time being be declared by the Governor-in-Council to be essential for the prosecution of the war or to the life of the community."

"Essential services" have now been defined by order-in-council to include "any undertaking for the supply of electricity, gas or water; any sewer or sewage disposal undertaking or any undertaking for the collection or disposal of refuse; and any municipal services, property and utilities."

Victor P. W. McMechan of Enderby has been appointed a justice of the peace, it was announced today at the Legislative Buildings.

TOWN TOPICS

Burnside P.T.A. met in the school on Wednesday, T. Smith, president, in the chair. The school team would name the subject of the debate, which would be held in November. It was unanimously decided to invite Trustee Percy E. George to act as mentor again for the season. Two new members, Ray Anderegg and Henry Law, were welcomed.

The Esquimalt Community Club met Monday, with Mrs. R. McVie presiding. The president welcomed Miss Gray, a visitor from Winnipeg, and Mrs. A. Setfield, back from England, also a new member. Mrs. A. Draper reported 32 sick visits during September. Mrs. S. Vincent and Mr. W. Leggett were named delegates to attend the meeting of the Democratic Right Movements. Anyone wishing to take up a course of St. John Ambulance is asked to give names to Mrs. R. McVie. 30 names must be received before this course can be started. A telephone court whist will be held during the month, to which prizes will be given for highest scores at the next meeting. Plans are being made for a dance in November, convened by Miss Dorothy McVie. A social evening for members and friends will be held at the home of the president, 922 Lyall Street, on October 11. Plans are being made for the Christmas bazaar, convened by Mrs. Petrie and Mrs. McDuff, some time in December.

The chrysanthemum show of the Victoria Horticultural Society will open at the Crystal Garden at noon tomorrow and promises to be an outstanding success. Competition in the various classes is exceptionally heavy and the hall will be crowded to capacity with a wealth of gorgeous blooms. In addition to chrysanthemums, there will be displays of Michaelmas daisies and dahlias, which are particularly beautiful at this time of year. In the non-competitive classes there will be a large display of chrysanthemums from the gardens of S. W. Raven and Don Snoblen. Michaelmas daisies will be shown by Mrs. J. A. Hibberson, and the Victoria Amateur Chrysanthemum Growers will stage several displays of chrysanthemums in pots, as well as cut flowers. At the conclusion of the show there will be presentation of prizes, followed by an auction of the cut blooms at 9 in the evening.

Electrical Convention Delegates Golf After Business

Development of the electric lamp and its important place in the progressive world of today formed the theme of interesting discussion when the convention of the Pacific division of the National Electric Wholesaler's Association got down to business at the Empress Hotel this morning. Fred C. Todd, district manager of the General Electric Supply Corporation, Los Angeles, presided over the open meeting and extended a cordial welcome to the delegates from California, Utah, Oregon and Washington.

Two papers dealing with the problems of the industry were presented at this morning's session, one by L. R. Wilson, manager of the incandescent light department, General Electric Company, Portland, Ore., and another by W. C. Smith of the General Electric Supply Company, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mr. Wilson explained the tremendous development of the electric lamp, dealing more particularly with the various phases of manufacture, modern marketing methods and prospects for greater utilization.

Mr. Smith dealt with the general relations existing between the public utilities and the electrical wholesalers.

This evening the second executive session will be in session, commencing at 9.

Tomorrow morning W. C. Mainwaring, general sales manager of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Vancouver, will be the speaker, and K. M. Robinson, president of the Washington Water Supply Company, Spokane, Wash., is also scheduled for a talk.

Three conventions are held annually by the National Electrical Wholesalers' Association, chiefly at Del Monte, Calif. This is the first time in 12 years that the convention has been held in Victoria.

After luncheon today the delegates shouldered their golfing kit and took taxis out to the Royal Colwood Golf course for the preliminary tilt in the annual golf competition staged by the association.

Up for competition are four trophies, the Copper Cup, which has been played for annually since 1908; the Manufacturers Cup, the Public Utilities Cup and the Glendennen Cup. None of these cups are taken in competition, small replicas known as "Booth trophies" being presented to the winners.

Tomorrow evening the golf trophies will be presented at a final banquet at the Empress Hotel, when the convention will be brought to a close.

Re-elect Officers

Leo Derman was re-elected president of Ward Seven Saanich Liberal Association at the annual meeting in Hampton Hall last night. He started serving his second term.

J. Watterston was elected vice-president for a second term and T. Estlin was chosen as secretary-treasurer. An executive of two men and two women was selected, consisting of Messrs. Grimes and Moorhead, Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Pass.

Hon. N. W. Whittaker, K.C., provincial member for the riding, and Alan Chambers, the federal candidate, spoke briefly, urging the association to turn its attention to patriotic and social activities during the war in place of partisanship.

Mr. Whittaker and Mr. Chambers were appointed honorary presidents of the association.

Owing to the holiday on Monday, the Saanich Municipal Office will remain open until 4 Saturday afternoon. Tuesday, October 10, will be the last day to pay Saanich taxes.

While walking home shortly before 11.45 she saw a man go into a place on the corner of Richardson and Cook Streets. She thought it was his home. ## First Word From Canadian Prisoner

PENATANGUISHINE, Ont. (CP)—First communication received in the Dominion from a Canadian prisoner of war in Germany is in the hands of A. B. Thompson, lawyer. Its arrival almost took his breath away.

It is a postcard printed in German and bearing the signature of his son, Pilot Officer Alfred Burke Thompson, of the Royal Air Force, captured, it is believed, while returning from a raid in which propaganda leaflets were dropped in Germany.

Mr. Thompson, father of the imprisoned pilot, said he had learned in a cable from the British Ministry that his son was a prisoner. He also had seen a news photograph taken in a German prison camp in which he was able to recognize his son. He had not, until yesterday, heard of the newsreel shown in London in which his son appeared and was identified definitely.

"I was surprised," Mr. Thompson said of his reaction on receiving the postcard.

It is a standard card, on which the prisoner drew a line over sentences he did not wish included. Mr. Thompson took the card to a friend of German descent and had it translated.

The card said the pilot officer was well and would be writing soon.

IDENTIFIED ON SCREEN LONDON (CP)—Two Royal Air Force officers—one a Canadian—who were reported by the air ministry this week as "missing," believed to be prisoners of war, have been recognized in a newsreel taken in a German internment camp.

They are Pilot Officer Alfred Burke Thompson of Penatanguishine, Ont., and Squadron Leader S. S. Murray.

The two officers were reported missing after it was understood, taking part in the bombing of the Kiel Canal in the early days of the war.

The manager of a cinema at York, Mervyn Moore, said a non-commissioned officer belonging to the same squadron as Thompson and Murray thought he recognized them on the screen. With Murray's wife and Thompson's fiancée he visited the cinema twice again. The three then said they were certain about the identity of the men.

Moore cut the picture from the newsreel and forwarded an enlargement to the squadron. Later the wing commander of the squadron wrote the manager: "This has settled the matter beyond all dispute. Your action in supplying irrefutable evidence is much appreciated by myself and officers of the squadron."

The letter said Thompson's fiancée and Murray's wife were "overjoyed" to see the officers alive.

WELL TREATED The Paramount newsreel shows the airmen looking fairly cheerful in the company of Nazi air force officers. The curly-haired Thompson at the microphone described how well they were being treated. The picture is said to have been taken at an internment camp near Hamburg.

Thompson joined the Royal Air Force privately, paying his own fare to England. Murray, born in Singapore, was at one time assistant air attaché in the British embassy in China.

25 Years Ago OCTOBER 6, 1914 LONDON—So far as London is concerned, for the last 12 hours news has been contraband of war. When the embargo is lifted, the public expects tidings of great moment, and there is a distinct tendency to optimism regarding the nature of the revelations.

LONDON—The correspondent of the Daily News at Copenhagen telegraphs the following: "Vivid

CUT THIS OUT EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of someone who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily require constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently leads to total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous.

The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises.

Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and muc

Many Warnings For U.S. Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly two score warnings to shipping have been received here from European nations in the first month of the war, the State Department disclosed today.

The latest one came this week from Germany, bidding United States ships to avoid "suspicious behavior" in French and British waters, and advising them against accepting convoys, zig-zagging, traveling without lights and refusing to stop if summoned.

Germany has also given notice of mined areas in parts of the Baltic sea.

State Secretary Cordell Hull notified belligerents yesterday that the United States would not countenance indiscriminate warfare against American shipping, but he also warned United States vessels to keep out of the sea adjacent to Europe.

France has informed the State Department that its navigational lights are being discontinued.

Vessels going to France are required to "check in" at Cape Alprecht for instructions.

Great Britain also gave notice to the discontinuance of many navigational lights and placing of mine fields.

ST. LAURENT GETS NEW COMMANDER

OTTAWA (CP)—Lieut. Comdr. Henry George DeWolf has been appointed to command the destroyer St. Laurent of the Canadian Navy, it was announced today.

He succeeds Lieut. Comdr. Adrian M. Hope.

Commander DeWolf, who for the past year has served as staff officer to Capt. G. C. Jones, commanding the Canadian destroyers, was born at Bedford, N.S., in 1903 and joined the Canadian navy in 1918.

He received his early naval training in the Royal Canadian Naval College and the Royal Navy. Specializing in navigation, he served variously on Canadian destroyers as navigating officer and executive officer.

In 1935 and 1936 commander DeWolf served at naval service headquarters in Ottawa, following which he passed examination of the Royal naval staff course at Greenwich, England. His next appointment was on the staff of Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Kennedy-Purvis, commanding the first cruiser squadron in the Mediterranean.

Governor Officially At Marine Ceremony

VANCOUVER (CP)—A portrait of King George VI was unveiled in the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange offices yesterday by Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber.

"This, even at the present time, serves to give point to the importance of our mercantile structure and to emphasize the services it may render the Empire in time of war," the Lieutenant-Governor said on behalf of the Lloyds Committee in commemoration of the Royal visit to Canada last spring.

Commander B. L. Johnson, a Royal Naval Reserve officer, made the presentation.

Boat Sent to Aid Junk at Quatsino

A vessel has been sent to Quatsino to investigate and offer any possible assistance to the Chinese junk Taiping, now sheltering at the west coast of Vancouver Island port in a crippled condition after completing a voyage of 107 days from Shanghai, today stated G. A. Yardley, collector of customs and excise for the port of Victoria.

Through the customs officer stationed at Quatsino Sound, Mr. Yardley received a request from Capt. John Anderson, master of the storm-battered junk, for a tow to Victoria.

The Yangtze pilot reported that his craft was crippled and unable to continue the voyage under its own power.

The Taiping will remain at Quatsino until the arrival of the Canadian vessel and it is expected that several days will pass before the junk is brought to this port.

First news of the safety of Captain Anderson and his wife and crew of five was radioed to coast stations by the U.S. geodetic survey vessel Discoverer, which sighted the overdue junk at noon Tuesday last off Cape Cook. The Discoverer supplied the crew with food, fresh water and tobacco, and proceeded, after Captain Anderson explained he could make port unaided.

Subsequent storms forced the Taiping to limp into Quatsino Sound.

RETIRING CUSTOMS OFFICERS HONORED

At a pleasing little ceremony in the customs longroom yesterday afternoon, Alfred C. Boyce and Frederick King, retiring from the service on superannuation, were honored by their colleagues.

G. A. Yardley, collector of customs and excise, on behalf of the staff, presented Mr. Boyce with a Westminster chime clock, and Mr. King with a club bag.

Mr. Yardley referred to the pleasant relations that had always existed between the department and the retiring officers and wished them health and happiness in the future years. His remarks were endorsed by C. A. Tervo, surveyor of customs.

Mr. Boyce, in his youth, served in the British marines and was discharged in 1902. After nine years in Victoria he joined the customs service in 1911.

Mr. King spent his early days in the gold mining fields of South Africa, being articulated to a mining engineer. He then came to Canada, first settling at Banff, Alta. He joined the customs service in 1926 as sub-collector at Port Renfrew.

Snow Near Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first snow of the season appeared on mountains north of here today. The fall was light.

Down the Gangway TYPHOON BOUNCED TRUNKS IN CABIN

Travelers reaching Victoria today from the Orient aboard the Empress of Asia reported a brush with a frisky typhoon off the Japanese coast. The typhoon caught the ship when she was 36 hours out from Yokohama, bound for Honolulu, and there was plenty of excitement aboard while the storm lasted, although no damage was reported to the liner.

"I have seen worse typhoons, but this one was bad enough," said Lieut. Col. C. L. O. Taylor, R.A., who is on his way from Hongkong to London.

"We spent an uncomfortable night, with our trunks sliding along the floor, and other articles somersaulting about the stateroom."

The British artillery officer was in the great typhoon which swept over Hongkong several years ago, when a whole fleet of ships, including the large passenger liner Asama Maru, was driven ashore.

Lieut. Col. Taylor is accompanied by his niece, Miss C. L. Taylor-Ward.

Surgeon-Lieut. P. G. Burgess, R.N., also in the Hongkong party, is returning to England to join the navy.

No Mining Interference

The Japanese army of occupation in northern China is not interfering with the operations of the famous Kailash Mining Administration, according to A. Kernball of Chinwangtao, who reached the city today on his way across Canada to England.

The Kailash outfit, which mines vast coal deposits in north China, is controlled by British and Chinese capital. Mr. Kernball, who has been No. 2 executive at Chinwangtao for a number of years, is returning to London to rejoin the army. He expects to get a commission in the artillery.

The excitement of the typhoon which battered the liner, the only incident of an otherwise monotonous voyage, was commented on by Mr. Kernball. He is accompanied by his wife and child.

Asia for Asiatics

"It looks as if the whites will eventually be kicked out of the Orient," commented W. H. Siegfried, president of Siegfried and Company, tea importers, of Chicago, on arrival from Yokohama this morning.

A regular commuter across the Pacific, Mr. Siegfried was pessimistic over future business with the Orient. He disembarked here and will proceed direct from Seattle to Chicago.

Ideal Existence

G. L. Gregson used to grow roses in Victoria; now he produces bananas and coconuts on a tiny plantation of two-and-a-half acres in the beautiful Manoa Valley, overlooking Waikiki Beach in glamorous Hawaii.

"It's wonderful over there, but the tropical climate makes you languid and it is necessary to come to a more temperate zone periodically," said Mr. Gregson, who used to reside at Lake Hill.

"I expect to remain here for three months, renewing old friends and acquaintances and receiving pleasant memories."

Mr. Gregson's daughter, now Mrs. H. J. Lucas, wife of the Y.M.C.A. secretary on the island of Hawaii, used to attend high school here.

Sees Benefit to Canada

Completing a journey which began at Bangkok, Siam, two weeks before the war began, J. W. Spence, representing the engineering firm of Greenwood & Battley of Leeds, England, reached Victoria today via Hongkong and Yokohama.

He expressed the view that Canada would benefit from the war by reason of the large orders to be placed here by the British government for equipment and supplies.

His firm, which manufactures engineering machinery, has agents in Montreal.

Trade Envoy Here

Canada's assistant trade commissioner stationed at Singapore, Federated Malay States, reached Victoria today with Mrs. Butler. Mr. Butler said he was going through to his home in Hamilton, Ont. He declined to discuss trade in his sphere of influence.

Catholic Traveler

Franciscan Father P. B. Charbonneau, returning to headquarters in Montreal from Tokyo, Japan, is today a visitor in Victoria.

Also here today from the Orient are W. Buckborough, Canadian Pacific agent at Tokyo, accompanied by his wife and son, proceeding to Ontario on furlough, and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Chao of Hongkong, en route to Cornell University for further studies.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Comparatively good buying prompted by a strong Chicago market and a bullish interpretation of Adolf Hitler's Reichstag statement held wheat futures prices firm on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Quotations slipped near the finish however, and closed 1/4 cent higher, unchanged, October at 70, November 71, December 71 and May 76 1/2.

Buying credited to exporters was believed to represent an overseas movement of about 200,000 bushels in Canadian wheat. Chicago added more than a cent while Buenos Aires gained a little.

Cash wheat operations were quiet. Malster buying in barley, domestic mill purchases of oats and purchases of rye against sales of wheat provided light activity in coarse grains.

"Lost" Explorer Found Vinland's Grapes

In our story of Leif Ericson's voyage to Vinland, we left off where it was said he sailed into "a sound between the island and a cape." Here is more of what this old Norse saga has to tell us:

"At ebb tide, they ran their ship aground. They were so anxious to go ashore that they could not wait until the tide should rise, but hastened to the land, where a certain river flows out from a lake.

Tyrker telling where he had found vines and grapes.

"As soon as the tide rose, however, they rowed the ship up the river and into the lake. There they cast anchor.

"After going ashore, they decided to stay for the winter. They built a large house. There were plenty of salmon in the river and in the lake, larger salmon than they ever had seen before.

"The days and nights were more nearly of equal length than those of Greenland. On the shortest day of the winter, the sun was high in the sky.

"When the house was finished, Leif said, 'We shall now divide our number into two groups. One group shall stay at home, while the other goes out to explore the country.'

"Leif, himself, took turns in joining the exploring party or staying at home. One day the party came back without a man named Tyrker, and Leif was sorely troubled. With 12 men, he set out to look for the missing man.

"Before they had gone far, they found Tyrker. He was in high spirits, and grinned, as he said, 'I did not go much farther than the rest, but I found vines and grapes.'

"Later Tyrker led his companions to the grapes, and they picked many of the grapes. Leif called the land 'Vinland' because of the vines and grapes."

The Norse story tells how Leif and his sailors left in the spring, and went back to Greenland. In later years, other Norsemen are said to have settled in the Land of Vines.

On his voyage to the west, it is believed that Leif Ericson made visits to the coasts of Labrador and Nova Scotia, the latter being the place of "trees and broad stretches of white sand."

The exact location of Vinland has been a puzzle. Perhaps the best reasons have been given for placing it in Cape Cod, Mass. Yet we must remember that some believe it was as far south as the coast of New Jersey.

The discovery probably took place during, or about, the year 1000.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am engaged to be married to a divorced man. He has one child who is in good hands and I want him to remain there. The man would like to have the child live with us when we marry, but as I don't want it he has agreed to give it up completely. If I marry this man, should I allow him to have the child's picture in my home? And should I agree for him to see his child or not?

Answer: When a woman marries a widower, whether he be sad or grass, she accepts his responsibilities and should help him to fulfill them. Especially is this the case if there are children to whom their father's duty is all the greater because they have lost their mother.

In my opinion, no woman can do a meaner thing than to try to alienate a man from the children of his first marriage, yet there are many second wives who do. They begrudge every particle of affection that the father shows his children, the money he spends on them, and they make the poor little creatures realize that no one loves them and that they are unwanted guests in their father's house. I wonder if these women never think that possibly some day their sin may be visited on their children's heads. That some other woman may make their husbands neglect their children and fall in their duty to them; that some day their children may be loveless little things mistreated by a jealous stepmother. A man who will let a second wife make him turn his back on his children and ignore his responsibility to those he has brought into the world is a poor, spineless creature, but even such a worm must turn when a woman refuses to let him have anything to do with his child, or even have his picture in the house.

DOROTHY DIX.

OPEN MANN CUP SERIES TONIGHT

VANCOUVER (CP)—St. Catharines Athletics will keep their eyes on Lanky Jim Douglas when they open their defence of the Canadian lacrosse championship here tonight.

One of the first things that came to their attention when they arrived in this Pacific Coast city today was the fact that Douglas had just been awarded the Maitland Trophy by the Inter-city league as the most valuable player of the year.

But Douglas isn't the only player the Athletics will have to watch when they renew their rivalry with the scrappy British Columbia champions. According to manager Max MacDonald, "the team has improved 100 per cent in the year since it dropped three straight games to the Ontario outfit in the 1938 Dominion finals at Toronto.

MacDonald goes so far as to predict without qualification that his squad will take up the Mann Cup back to New Westminster once again.

Cadboro Bay Red Cross Unit Is Organized

A successful inaugural meeting of the Red Cross was held on Thursday afternoon in the Cadboro Bay pavilion with Mrs. C. W. Baker in the chair. Brig-General J. G. Austin, who was accompanied by Mrs. A. Carmichael, addressed the meeting on the work of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Carmichael spoke briefly of the Voluntary Registration of Women and urged all to register without hesitation.
